Thanksgiving Dinner Costs Less Than In 1922TURKEY AND 'FIXIN'S' AT REDUCTION
IN CITYJoyful News Comes for Housewives: Prices In State Are Lower

Glendale Thanksgiving day dinner tables will be heaped high with turkey and "fixin's" this year. Those who last year contented themselves with chicken will partake this season of the king of birds. Even the festive goose and duck will lose caste. And cranberries, sweet potatoes, lettuce, apples, oranges, walnuts, dates and figs will appear in prodigious quantities.

Such is the joyful news from the markets, where prevailing prices are the lowest in many years. Quotations show that where turkey brought prices of from 55 to 70 cents a pound last year, today it is offered at from 40 to 50 cents a pound, with ducks and geese at around 37 cents, as compared with 45 cents in 1922, and chickens at correspondingly lower prices.

Reductions Vary
Cranberries are selling for half of last year's price, apples are 10 per cent cheaper and off 50 per cent quality, celery is off 50 per cent, and lettuce is selling for 5 cents a head, as compared with 15 cents a head in 1922. Dates are bringing 45 cents a pound, and figs 25 cents a pound, for far finer quality goods than a year ago.

All up and down the line, Milady is finding this Thanksgiving's marketing a most pleasant task—and when the Thanksgiving day dinner hour approaches, thousands of Glendale tables can be depended upon to exhibit the most gratifying appearance of recent years. Turkey, as king, has by this edict won great favor among his legion subjects.

People of California
Have Reason to Give Thanks

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 27.—With turkey selling from 22 1/2 to 30 cents a pound, wholesale, the lowest price in 20 years, San Francisco people were prepared today to consume close to 500 tons of the festive bird on Thanksgiving day. With one of the biggest crops of turkeys in California's history, the market here was reported filled and prices started to crack early today with indications that before Thanksgiving the principal item for Thanksgiving dinner might reach even lower levels. It was expected retail prices would run around 30 to 35 cents a pound. The lowest prices in years for Christmas turkeys were also predicted.

When milady on the Pacific coast makes purchases for her Thanksgiving dinner, she will find other commodities priced with turkeys at lower prices than in 1922. With cranberries, sweet potatoes and other trimmings cheaper than usual Thanksgiving day dinners this year will cost at most $3 less than a year ago, according to the experts.

Milk Is Higher
Cranberries are 5 cents a pound lower than in 1922, while walnuts and apples are just half the price of a year ago. Oranges are selling at 15 cents a dozen less than normally and eggs are five cents lower.

Milk is the only item which shows an increase this Thanksgiving. Selling at 14 cents per quart, it costs 1 cent higher than last year.

Beautiful California flowers to grace Thursday's dinner tables may be bought for as low as 10 cents a bouquet. A dozen roses cost only 25 cents.

Many Will Share Their Thanksgiving Dinner With Those Not So Fortunate

As the spirit of the holiday thrills us anew with the thoughts of thanksgiving, it is fitting that we who have homes in Glendale, "The Fastest Growing City in America," should pause to take account of our blessings.

Glendale's blessings are twofold, for in addition to being a growing city, they are also Californians and it was in truth the hand of God that created Eden on the shores of the great Pacific ocean.

A splendid suggestion for Thanksgiving Day is happiness, for somehow or other being thankful and being happy go together. And Glendaleans have so many things to be happy for.

Civic pride is one of the strongest bonds of the Glendale spirit and on Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, 1923, the hearts of Glendaleans will be united in a great community prayer of thankfulness for the prosperity enjoyed during the past year.

With four more weeks left in the year 1923, the building permits have already passed the $9,000,000 mark. That's just one way of convincing the world that Glendale is still America's fastest growing city.

Ideal climatic conditions, beautiful natural surroundings and varied opportunities are other things for which Glendaleans may be truly thankful.

Wednesday Night

BERKELEY, Nov. 27.—Some decision on the part of the University of California as to whether the invitation of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses committee for the Bears to represent the west in the annual inter-sectional game there New Year's day against the Navy, will likely be reached tomorrow night at a meeting of the executive committee of the institution.

Formal announcement of the decision may await the meeting of the Pacific Football conference, December 7, as approval of that body is also necessary under a ruling adopted last year. It is regarded as highly probable that the conference will approve California's decision, whatever it may be.

Bears to Play, Belief
While there is some reluctance on the part of many authorities of the university to participate in a post-season game other than in the new stadium here, belief was expressed today that California will agree to play this year providing conference requirements in the handling of the game are met by the Tournament of Roses committee. It is understood the committee is prepared to do this.

annual custom, will mark a pause in the routine round of life and family groups and friends will gather about richly laden tables and for happy hours of informal sociability.

But amidst all this happiness there will be some whose hearts are heavy because of sorrow, whose misfortune will prevent them from providing the usual bountiful table, whose sickness banishes reason for thankfulness.

Rich and poor alike are included in the great spirit of Glendale, and on Thanksgiving Day Glendaleans whose cups of thanksgiving overflow with prosperity, health and happiness, will share with their less fortunate fellow citizens by bringing greetings to those in sorrow or distress, help to those in need and food to those who hunger.

Glendale is, indeed, "The Fastest Growing City in America," and on Thanksgiving, 1923, may she also be the happiest city in all the world.

And to make that happiness complete, many will share their Thanksgiving dinner with others; they will make up a basket of the good things and see to it a family in misfortune gets it. Any of us, at any time, is liable to be put in a position where a nice basket of food on Thanksgiving would mean something really worth while. So let's share what we have with those who have not.

Develop Property

BERLIN, Nov. 27.—It was learned from an authoritative source today that Hugo Stinnes has formed an oil company with $20,000,000 capital to develop fields in Texas, Mexico and Russia in conjunction with Harry Sinclair, American oil operator.

German socialist newspapers bitterly denounce Stinnes' "foreign investments."

They contrast these investments with Stinnes' policy in the Ruhr, where he has been making wholesale dismissals on account of "lack of capital."

Denial Is Issued

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—Denial that Harry Sinclair or the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation has associated in any way, with Hugo Stinnes was made at Sinclair's offices today.

"Mr. Sinclair has not entered into any negotiations with Stinnes and does not contemplate doing so," it was stated.

Success of Organization Wins Fame for Glendale in Musical Circles Throughout the United States

To develop musical talent and appreciation of the children of Glendale is one of the dominating aims of the Glendale Music club, and the accomplishments of the club in this line of endeavor are seen in the formation and activities of the Juvenile Auxiliary.

So successful has this unit of the Music club been that requests for information as to its organization have come from all parts of the United States, and at the meeting last Saturday at the foothill home of Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Music club, the above picture was taken by request of the National Federation of Music Clubs for publication in its official magazine.

Organized in 1921, under Mrs. Frank Arnold, with thirty charter members, the Juvenile Auxiliary has been re-formed with more enthusiasm, from year to year. The membership is open to all children between the ages of 6 and 14 years. The initiation charge is 50 cents, and the annual dues are $1, which admit the child to all the senior club concerts.

On the occasion of the first birthday of the Music club, February 17, 1922, it was the juveniles or club "babies" who presented a part of the program, and reports state that they appeared in a most finished and businesslike manner.

The auxiliary has its own officers, who are assisted by four directors from the senior club. At the auxiliary meetings the children, who are officers, preside and conduct all business procedure, as well as arranging, announcing and presenting the program.

List of Officers
Officers this year are: Susie Smith, president; Wilma Kulp, vice-president; Marguerite Chappell, recording secretary; Eloise Kanus, corresponding secretary, and Margaret Hellman, treasurer. The senior directors are: Mrs. Grace Jackson, chairman; Mrs. W. A. Kulp, Mrs. Pearl Curran and Miss Mabel Carrow.

Provided with the background given them by participation in the Juvenile Auxiliary, the children at the age of 14 years are ready and anxious to go on into the Junior Auxiliary, where the organization is very similar but more advanced than the younger unit, and then at the age of 20 they go from the Junior Auxiliary into the Senior club. At present there are twenty-six children in the Juvenile Auxiliary and fifty in the Junior department.

MANILA, Nov. 27.—The Philippine senate today unanimously overrode the veto of Governor-General Leonard Wood to the bill remitting penalties for the non-payment of land taxes in 1923. Rutherford, chairman of the senate committee, which has been conducting a special probe into the financial condition of the state, with particular reference to state funds deposited in banks which have failed during the last three years.

It is understood that an immediate and complete investigation will be made as the result of the senate committee's report.

BERLIN AND MOSCOW IN DANGER OF
BREAKINGNationalists Oppose Every Effort to Secure New German Government

By S. D. WEYER
For International News Service
BERLIN, Nov. 27.—Dr. Heinrich Albert today gave up his attempt to form a new German government to succeed the Stresemann cabinet. He was balked by the intense opposition of the nationalists.

In a letter to President Ebert, Dr. Albert said:

"I have done my patriotic duty in trying to form a new ministry, but it was impossible to form a political party group cabinet that was satisfactory."

It was reported the Russian soviet embassy was prepared to save Berlin at a moment's notice in case of a reactionary dictatorship. Already a tense situation has developed between Berlin and Moscow over General von Seeckt's order dissolving the communist party and the Third Internationale which has had a central propaganda seat in Germany.

Act Under Orders
For months German communists have been active under orders from Moscow agents, notably Karl Radek, who were here incognito.

It was understood a big red demonstration was planned here for this evening.

The socialist parliamentary party published a secret letter from Radek to the German reds, reprimanding them for their inactivity, demanding "more action and more noise." The letter shows that Radek ordered last week's tumult by the reds in the Reichstag.

"Communists must take such action as will cause them to be removed by force."

The nationalist press is making a concerted attack against President Ebert. The Deutsche Zeitung demands that "General von Seeckt fire the president."

(General von Seeckt, as commander-in-chief of the Reichwehr, is German dictator.)

Reactionary criticism is shared in many quarters. Other parties fail to understand why President Ebert picked such an obvious impossibility as Dr. Albert to form a cabinet.

Dissolution of the Reichstag seems certain.

Disensions have broken out in the ranks of the Ruhr industrialists.

Charlotte, her younger sister, did not escape so easily and is laid up with a severely injured knee.

It was really and truly a Thanksgiving party, not only thankfulness for their escape from serious injury but the Thanksgiving colors of orange and brown and yellow were used in decorations and little favors.

The girls were given yellow cake and yellow baskets with "corn" candies and the boys wore orange caps and had orange baskets.

R. E. GOODE HOME IS BURGLARIZED

Thief Ransacks House While Family Spends Evening
At Kiwanis Dance

The home of R. E. Goode, 506 Riverdale drive, was burglarized last night between 7 o'clock and midnight, while the family was attending the Kiwanis dinner-dance at the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Evidently the thief knew the "lay of the land" very well, as some friends parked their car directly in front of the house, and were driven to the party in the Goode car, and a light was left burning in the sitting room.

Entrance was gained by forcing a side window. The intruder took his time, as every drawer in the house was thoroughly ransacked, and clothing was strewn all over the floor. A check this morning revealed that a small sum of money, a gold watch, the sterling silver, and other small articles, were missing. The plated silver was not touched, although in the same drawer with the sterling ware.

The police believe the thief was a professional, who familiarized himself with the movements of the family. He was very careful not to leave any finger marks.

In Registering Name

Mrs. Sidney Dell, deputy registrar, makes the following statement:

"The following four 'I's' apply to your registration to make you eligible to vote at the sewer bond election, January 8, 1924:

"If you have registered for Glendale elections since January 1, 1922, and if you have not moved since so registering, you should not register again. It clutters the county registration office.

"But if you have not registered since January 1, 1922, or if you have moved since so registering, you must register to be eligible for the election.

"The last day for registration is December 8, 1923. Mrs. Sidney Dell registers voters at the Security Trust and Savings Bank, 100 South Brand, from 9 a. m. to 3 p. m., and at her home, 928 North Louise street, from 5 to 8 p. m."

Court Ruling Blocks

Taxation by States

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The supreme court of the United States decided yesterday that property held by the United States or its officials as agents of the government for war production purposes was not subject to state taxation.

Heavy Death Toll Is

Result of Accidents

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27.—In the first ten months of this year 431 persons were killed by accidents, most of which were caused by automobiles, street cars and trains, according to a report on file at central police station. The same period for 1922 disclosed 378 deaths. There were 63 deaths during last October, according to the report.

One Eye-or One Arm?

"The one-eyed men of industry"

This man has lost his arm. He finds it difficult to get a job because industrial efficiency demands that there be a complete man at every machine. Yet the successful applicant is frequently much less fitted for this work than the one-armed man. For employment managers are hiring "one-eyed" workers without knowing it. In America there are twenty-five million people who don't realize that they need glasses. Call them "one-eyed"—for two eyes which do not see properly may be of no more use than one.

Three-quarters of America's factory workers are victims of bad vision and don't know it; nor can they be expected to know it without an eye examination. Bad vision does not proclaim itself as openly as an empty sleeve but it can be readily detected and corrected by an expert. The formula is simple.

EAGLE ROCK PRAISES SCHOOL SYSTEM OF CITY

Educational Councillor Tells of Bright Future that Faces Eagle Rock

Writing in the Los Angeles School Journal, Miss Georgia C. Shane, Eagle Rock school councillor, has a good deal to say that is praiseworthy of this community.

The Eagle Rock school system is a live organization and the Eagle Rock school is a wide-awake addition thereto, she asserts, and goes on to give specific examples of what she means, including the recent "visiting day" and the activities in the school gardens.

"Eagle Rock is on the map," she says. "Watch her become the Mecca for pilgrims from everywhere who wish to learn how to develop a high-grade citizenship. With her busy schools, containing over 825 pupils and utilizing twenty-two rooms, what can Eagle Rock not do to develop proper school spirit, loyal workmanship and civic pride? And not only is the school itself a wide-awake infant. There is a P. T. A. to be proud of. Already the ladies are operating a full-fledged self-supporting cafeteria which is feeding over 300 children daily. There is no profit, because they do not plan to profit. When they want profit, they launch a 'Harvest Home Festival,' such as the one they put over on Visiting Day—October 19. They cleared over $400.00 on this project! With such moneys they buy park benches for the kiddies' lunch hour. And though they have made no rash promises, we believe they are secretly planning a whole program of convenience of a similar nature for both kiddies and teachers."

Local Notes
It has been decided to retain the 20 and 23 foot setback lines on the north and south sides, respectively, of Park avenue, from Central avenue to Linden way, which will be good news to lovers of beauty.

Sergeant Jud D. Cornwall of the local police department, who has suffered a long illness, due to a complication of influenza and pneumonia, is now recovering, rapidly and will soon be out again.

The building committee of the Methodist church report plans for a $75,000 church in this community. As the present church and annex is in the center of the business district and considered a very valuable piece of property, it is thought likely this will be sold and the new church erected elsewhere.

The Alaska-Yukon club met last night at the Disabled Veterans' hall, Los Angeles. Captain H. L. Sullivan of 2311 Lawrence avenue, Eagle Rock, the president of the organization, presiding. J. H. Cowan, an old-time Yukon entertainer, read some of his own poems. Mrs. Arthur George Thompson, of Anchorage, addressed the club on economic conditions in Alaska. John Hooper just returned from that territory, delivered messages from several Alaskan mayors to the members of the club.

Southern California

On Booster Tour

SANTA ANA, Nov. 27.—Representing San Diego and the San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce, more than 150 men, headed by a naval band from the United States naval training station, visited this city on a boosters' good-will tour, which includes Orange country cities, Long Beach, Los Angeles and other Southern California cities.

The visitors were welcomed to the city by R. L. Bisby, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce entertainment committee, and other prominent business men of Santa Ana, who met the delegates at Tustin and escorted them to the downtown district.

From here, the boosters proceeded to Long Beach, where they were to be given a similar reception by the beach city Chamber of Commerce.

Heavy Tomato Shipments

FULLERTON, Nov. 27.—Shipments of tomatoes by local packing concerns during the present season, have reached a total of 229 carloads, according to figures gathered from reports of the various packers. At the present, consignments are moving at the rate of about four cars a day. Last week thirty-five carloads were shipped, and there is still a good demand for the product at increased prices.

New Church Planned

ANAHEIM, Nov. 27.—Contract for building a new First Christian Church here, has been awarded to George E. Trout, of this city. The contract was let for $70,000, which includes everything except the excavation, which is to be done by McClellan & Sparkes, and the heating and ventilating of the auditorium. Excavation work is to start immediately.

The structure will be erected on Broadway at South Helena street, with a broad flight of steps, thirty-nine feet wide, forming the front entrance on Broadway. Provision is made in the plans for more than twenty classrooms, to be located in the basement.

Auditorium Assured

LONG BEACH, Nov. 27.—Definite steps toward the erection of a new municipal auditorium in Long Beach were taken by city officials here, when the council authorized City Manager Charles Windham to employ Brigadier General Amos A. Fries, U. S. A., and Major Thomas Leeds, former Federal harbor engineers, to make a survey of the beach at the foot of American avenue. The present auditorium is located at the foot of Pine avenue, in the heart of the amusement zone.

Agitation for a larger public hall has been growing here for several months, and now that an actual survey of the project is to be made, it is believed the plans for a new auditorium are about to materialize.

Lettuce Men Meet
EL CENTRO, Nov. 27.—Lettuce growers and shippers, of the Imperial Valley, will meet at the Barbara Worth hotel here in annual session, on December 3, according to G. H. Heckle, who called the meeting. This gathering will be preliminary to the opening of the season, which is expected to exceed all past records for volume of business.

It is estimated by shippers that 10,000 carloads of lettuce will be sent out of this district this season, as against 8000 cars last year.

To Light Street

ORANGE, Nov. 27.—Contract for the Cambridge street ornamental lighting system has been awarded to Walker & Walker, Fullerton contractors, on their bid of $2700, and work is scheduled to start within two weeks. The council took three bids on the contract, under advisement for one week, after which the job was given to the Fullerton contractors.

Purchase Power Plant

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 27.—Announcement has been made by the Southern Sierras Power Company, of the purchase of the Holton Power Company holdings in Imperial Valley. The purchase price was not mentioned.

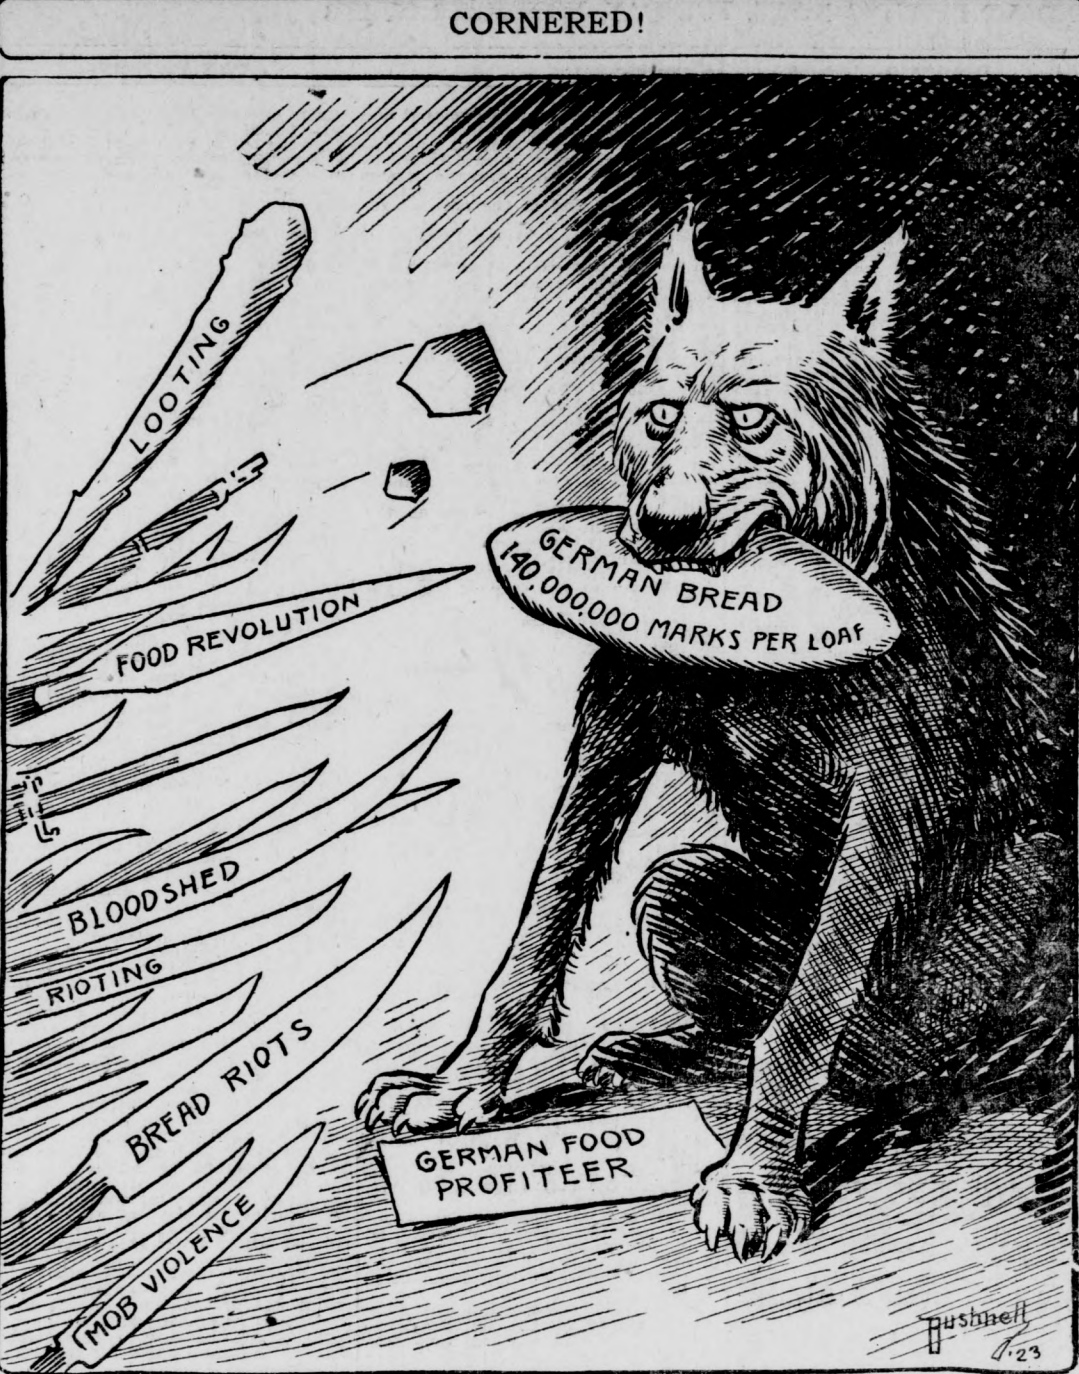

It was also announced that plans for expansion of the service include the construction of 102 miles of new transmission line, from El Centro, west to Rincon, at a cost of $500,000. In this connection, it was stated further, that the San Diego Consolidated Gas & Electric company, will build seventeen miles of line east to Rincon, at a cost of $200,000. With this work completed, it was pointed out, California, from the Oregon boundary, south to the Imperial Valley and west to San Diego, will be on one power circuit.

Baptists Hold Meet

FULLERTON, Nov. 27.—Riverside was chosen as the next meeting place of the Santa Ana Valley Baptist Association, at the convention held here. The election of officers for the next term of office, resulted in the choice of E. C. Rudstrom, of Anaheim, as moderator, and C. E. Pollen, of Garden Grove, as clerk and treasurer. Rev. Otto S. Russell, of Santa Ana, was named as minister for the coming year.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 27.—Declared to be the victim of poisonous bootleg liquor, Joe Conroy, of Los Angeles, died at Westminster, after an alleged all-night party. Targo Anderson, friend of Conroy, was held by the authorities, pending an investigation. According to Anderson's story to the officers, he and Conroy had been drinking during the night, and early today after automobile driving with Conroy, he stopped at

Film Beauty Answers

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 27. Coming as an aftermath to the indictment of Herman L. Roth, an attorney, for attempted blackmail of Barbara La Marr, screen actress, in connection with a divorce suit against her, there was on file today an answer from the film beauty to charges made in the divorce action of N. Bernard Deely, who asserted he was her husband. The answer denied that Deely and the film actress are still or ever were husband and wife.

While it was not set forth in the answer, it was understood that Miss La Marr contends that she and Deely never were legally married, and that the purported marriage was annulled, leaving her free to marry Jack Dougherty, which she did last May.

MAKES PLEA FOR HISTORIC TREES

Proposal to Cut Down Noble
Growth Along Monterey
Road Is Opposed

Monterey road is destined to be one of the scenic drives of Glendale, if the work outlined at the City Council meeting last night is carried through.

Proceedings were started some time ago, and bids have already been requested, looking to the improvement of this thoroughfare, which contemplated the destruction of the trees in the center of the road, as they were considered a menace to the public's safety.

George P. Woodbury, before the members of the council, in a fervent speech, pleaded for the lives of these trees as a celebrated counsel might plead for the life of a client at the bar of justice. He traced their history back to the old mission days, and drew a vivid picture of the old King's highway, which ran through the canyon between Eagle Rock and Glendale. These trees, he stated, often furnished shelter for the priests of old, and many a noonday lunch had been partaken of under the shelter of their branches. He pointed out that these trees would be of inestimable historical interest in years to come, and called it a sacrilege to remove them.

Parkway Along Street
After a conference with the council, he is going to endeavor to get the property owners to cooperate with the city in making a parkway through the center of the street eight or ten feet wide, with a sixteen foot roadway on either side. Mr. Woodbury stated that there would be no trouble in accomplishing this.

There will be a curbing along the parkway as well as on the outside of the road, which will undoubtedly make it a mecca for sightseers in this city for years to come. On motion of Councilman Horn, seconded by Councilman Davis, the city engineer was instructed not to remove any of the trees until authorized to do so by that body.

Owners of Shopping News Hold Meeting

The first regular meeting of the Glendale Shopping News company, consisting of twenty of Glendale's foremost merchants, was held on Friday, November 23, for the purpose of giving a detailed financial statement covering the affairs of the company since its inception about six months ago, states C. J. Hatz, chairman of the executive committee. He said:

"The financial status of the company proved very satisfactory and the results obtained by the advertisers, it was unanimously reported, exceeded the expectations of even the most optimistic."

"After a discussion of ways and means of bettering the service to their customers and with a profound appreciation of the support given these merchants by the buying public of Glendale, the meeting was adjourned until the next regular meeting to be held in January."

ELKS ASSURED OF TURKEY DINNERS

250 Bronze Beauties Are Awarded to Lodge Members at Raffle

More than 250 members of the Glendale Elks lodge today are rejoicing over their good fortune at the annual turkey raffle held in the Elks' clubhouse last night, when as many of the handsome birds were taken away to provide the principal dish of the Thanksgiving Day menu in many homes of the city next Thursday.

Fred J. Fish was in charge of the raffle stand, which opened at 9 o'clock following a business session early in the evening. When the last bird had been paid for, a check of the evening's receipts showed that the raffle had netted more than $900, which will go into the Elks' charity fund.

Not Enough Turkeys
Despite the effort to provide enough turkeys for everyone attending the raffle, they fell short of the number of Elks present—350 in all. Much interest was manifested throughout the raffle, as the lot contained some of the finest birds ever seen in Glendale, according to well-calculated words of praise heard during the evening. Besides the big lot of dressed turkeys raffled to the members, a number of live birds of handsome plumage were drawn on the lucky tickets.

One of the prize tickets of the raffle, and one that created no little amusement, was a big live gander.

Pie Counter Lures
The raffle was the center of attraction while it lasted, yet all the members found their way to the counter where sweet nectar and doughnuts were being served.

During the short business session that preceded the raffle, plans were discussed for the annual Elks' ceremonial to be held by the local lodge Sunday afternoon at the lodge rooms. The program will be completed this week and made public, according to W. M. Kimball, secretary of the local organization. An excellent program is being arranged. Mr. Kimball said, and will be presented with an urgent invitation for the public to attend.

Gifts Are Taken to Children's Hospital

Mrs. Ernest J. Morgan, president, and Mrs. F. W. Kille, secretary of the Glendale auxiliary of the Children's Hospital society, attended the annual linen shower of the society at the hospital on Sunset boulevard in Los Angeles this morning.

These officers carried a set of towels all hemmed and ready for use and a cash donation of $10 from the auxiliary at this time.

Although recently organized, the auxiliary has already made two donations of new garments for which material and work were contributed by Glendale and a truck load of salvage. Other new garments will follow as soon as completed.

The auxiliary is planning a fruit and jelly donation for Christmas.

John G. Smith, 400 North Maryland avenue, was slightly injured last night when struck by a bicycle ridden by Clarence Mace, 410 West Stocker street. His injuries were not serious, and he was able to proceed to his home.

NURSE TELLS OF SCHOOL HYGIENE

Statistics Show Numbers of Pupils Deficient in Sight, Hearing

The regular meeting of the Wilson Avenue Parent-Teacher association, of which Mrs. H. A. Thompson is president, was held Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the school. Informal talks of especial interest to the mothers, was an address by Miss Helen Stuart Tupper on the duties of the school nurse, with details of the various phases of her work among the pupils of the city schools, and giving a few statistics showing the surprising number of pupils with defective sight and hearing, and others who are suffering from being under-nourished and many who are under-weight, that are brought to the notice of teachers and parents through the results of the examinations of the school nurse.

Chas. E. Merrill, acting principal of the school, talked of the relation of parent to teacher and explained in detail the many changes that have been made this year in the course of study, with supervised study taking place of the former study period, and the elimination of electives.

Hold Business Meeting

The business meeting preceded the program, with Mrs. Thimm presiding. Among the many interesting reports made by chairmen of standing committees, Mrs. W. E. Pelley reported 206 members enrolled. Mrs. C. J. Bowls announced a candy sale to be held by the room mothers of the A-8 and B-8 classes, with date not decided upon.

Mrs. J. B. King reported that the proceeds from the silver tea at her home recently were $2.50. A second tea will be held December 14, from 3 to 5. The proceeds of these teas are to be used for the purchase of tea-cups for use at the Parent-Teacher association.

Mrs. Arthur Franklin reported $9.25 as the proceeds of the last card parties, and announced the next card party will be held at the home of Mrs. Phillips, 1520 East Colorado street, Monday afternoon, December 2.

Mrs. W. E. Routt reported that two quilts had been completed by members of the Parent-Teacher association and delivered to Mrs. E. D. Yard of the welfare council. The B-8-3, of which Miss Helen Gould is class teacher, was winner in the room count in attendance of mothers, and will be awarded the usual treat. Mrs. Thimm announced that at the January meeting Mrs. C. H. Thompson will have charge of a question box, which it is anticipated will furnish material for interesting discussion. No meeting will be held in December, owing to the Christmas holidays conflicting with the regular date.

KIWANIANS HOSTS AT DINNER DANCE

Holiday Festivity Ushered in by Brilliant Affair at Club Banquet Hall

Thanksgiving hospitality, cheer and happiness were features of the brilliant dinner dance given last night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse by the Glendale Kiwanis club, of which A. L. Ferguson is president.

Ushering in the holiday season, the affair was one of the most delightful social events of the fall and winter months.

The dinner tables, set in the banquet hall, were beautifully decorated in Thanksgiving favors and the menu, arranged by Mrs. A. H. Montgomery and her associates of the Tuesday Afternoon club, included all the tempting Thanksgiving delicacies from roast turkey to hot mince pie.

Lyons Leads Singing
During the dinner hour, George Lyons acted as song leader, and under his direction "Little Liza Jane" sounded like a very sizable "Jane."

Before dancing began there was a program of music and entertainment features by the orchestra from Camp Curry, Yosemite valley. Glenn Hood sang a group of songs by request; Miss Jessie Gibson, sister of "Hoot" Gibson of moving picture fame, entertained with colored songs and dances, and the Brown sisters of Glendale, Orpheum circuit artists, played both popular and classical numbers on their accordions. The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed and the entertainers heartily applauded.

Seventy Couples Dance

Dancing began at 9 o'clock and the seventy couples present danced until 12 o'clock, when the strains of "Home, Sweet Home" announced the hour of departure. Dr. T. C. Young was chairman of the entertainment committee, and was assisted by Robert Adams and Harry McLean, and their fellow Kiwanians are showering them with compliments today on the success of the dinner and dance.

POSTPONE REHEARSAL

The rehearsal for the minstrel show to be produced by the Glendale Community Players planned for Wednesday night has been postponed to Tuesday, December 4, on account of Thanksgiving holidays. A large attendance is expected, as many singers are being attracted to volunteer for solo and chorus work.

It is easy to plow in a muddy soil, but the seeds you sow will rot.

RUHR PACT STIRS BRITISH PROTEST

England to Demand That
Cash Payments Be Divided Among Allies

LONDON, Nov. 27.—Great Britain may protest against the agreement entered into by the Franco-Belgian occupational forces in the Ruhr and German industrialists, it was reported today when the legal experts of the foreign office, the national treasury, the government board of trade and the law offices of the crown met to study the agreement and its legality.

If there is formal opposition it will be based upon the ground that the agreement gives France and Belgium first claim to cash payments irrespective of the claim of the other allied powers.

Want Cash Pre-empted
Great Britain probably will demand that such cash as is obtained under the agreement be turned over to the inter-allied reparations commission for general distribution.

It is believed also that it prejudices the United States' right of priority cash payments to make up the cost of maintaining the American army of occupation on the Rhine.

Sir John Bradbury, British representative on the inter-allied reparations commission, has arrived from Paris to consult with the cabinet and to give his views on the agreement to the British legal experts.

Choral Club Stages Regular Rehearsal

Last night's rehearsal of the Glendale Choral club was one of the finest since that organization was formed.

In addition to the regular work on Coleridge Taylor's "Hiawatha's Wedding Feast," J. Arthur Meyers, the director, spent considerable time on two choruses from Handel's Messiah. The club is planning to sing some Christmas carols for the holiday season and rehearsed several of these last night.

During the intermission Mrs. Mildred Puffer sang a group of delightful numbers. She was accompanied by Mrs. Gertrude Champlin Erb.

MUST STAND TRIAL

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 27.—Orders to remove the alleged leader of a national automobile theft ring from an insane asylum in Cook county, Ill., to be brought to Minneapolis for trial on a charge of transporting a stolen automobile, were issued by Judge John F. McGee in United States district court.

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The third Asiatic expedition into Asia—American planned, conducted and manned—is returning to assemble the wealth of data and fossil it collected in one of the most successful expeditions in the history of scientific research.

The expedition was organized mainly to test the theory advanced in 1906 by Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn, president of the American Museum of Natural History, that central Asia was the place of origin of the reptilian and mammalian life which migrated later to Europe and America. Roy Chapman Andrews, noted geologist, led the expedition and has returned to New York ahead of the main party to seek finances for a new expedition which will last five years.

The returning party has been gone five years. Through the aid of modern equipment, including a caravan of motor trucks, the members were enabled to carry on in three summer seasons work that years ago would have taken ten years. The motor caravan made 150 miles a day through country where camels take ten days for that distance.

The expedition was under the auspices of the American Museum of Natural History, in co-operation with the American Asiatic Association and Asia Magazine.

The Main Discoveries
Regarding the discoveries made, the report of the expedition says in part:

It discovered the greatest known fossil field.

It proved Professor Osborn's theory, stated in 1906, that central Asia was the place of origin and dispersal center of much of the mammalian life of America and Europe.

Proved that a broad land connection between Asia and America by way of Alaska has existed until recent geological times.

Proved that during the early part of the Age of Reptiles (lower cretaceous) Mongolia was a dry upland with open plains sparsely forested and had an invigorating climate. At this time Europe and America were virtually at sea level. By its discoveries the expedition has disclosed for the first time the invertebrate life which existed during this period, ten million years ago.

As to Future Work
The first three years have yielded such amazing results, says the report, that it is proposed to extend the expedition for five years longer to explore more thoroughly one of the richest areas of the earth's surface from the standpoint of science.

Up to the present time the expedition has been entirely supported by institutions and individuals of New York city. Its scope will now be enlarged, for it is carrying the American flag, American ideals and American science into one of the most remote and least known regions of the earth for the benefit of world knowledge.

Wooden horses so constructed that children may make them center are popular on London sidewalks.

CELEBRATION AT CHRISTMAS, PLAN

Community Service Executive Committee to Work Out Arrangements

The executive committee of Community Service, at its meeting yesterday afternoon in the Egyptian Village cafe, voted to organize a Community Christmas celebration. By action of the other committee members V. M. Hollister was made chairman of a committee to formulate the Christmas plans.

The organization invites the cooperation and suggestions of the church forces and organizations of the city. It plans to make this even a bigger community event than the celebration last year.

The annual meeting of Community Service comes next Tuesday, December 4, at the Egyptian Village cafe. Invitations are going out to all members of the board of directors and contributors to Community Service. All interested in this community recreation program for Glendale are invited to be present.

Committee members present yesterday were: V. M. Hollister, president, A. R. Eastman, R. D. White, Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. A. A. Barton, Dr. Jessie A. Russell, George U. Moyses and L. T. Rowley.

COOLIDGE TO LIFT CRAIG SENTENCE

President Waits Approval of Legal Adviser Before
Freeing Prisoner

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—President Coolidge may lift a sixty-day jail sentence from the shoulders of Comptroller Charles L. Craig, of New York, within the next 48 hours, it was intimated at the White House today.

In that time, it is expected the president will be supplied with the two requisites he has considered necessary before taking action (first) a formal opinion from the attorney-general that he has the power to pardon Craig, and (second) a formal application for such pardon, made by Craig's friends with his consent.

Meanwhile Attorney-General Daugherty was expected here today to render the president a formal opinion as to his powers. Subordinate officials of the department of justice already have expressed the opinion the president has the power, but Mr. Coolidge wants his powers clearly defined and understood.

Girls' League Plans Party for Children

The executive committee of the Girls' League held a meeting yesterday at the High school, at which plans were perfected for the party which the members will give for 36 kiddies in the Boyd street school of Los Angeles.

The little folks will be entertained with a program given by the girls, after which refreshments consisting of pumpkin pie, candy and nuts will be served.

The following girls will have charge of the party: Catherine Baird, chairman of the philanthropic committee; Anna Mae Monroe, Clarissa Dinsmore, Daisy Whitesell, Edith Sperry, Gwen Egan, chairman of the social committee, and Emily Berry, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Pass Resolutions In Which They Point Out Many

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to each of our daily papers for publication and also be spread upon our minutes.

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce.
JESSE E. SMITH,
President.
E. F. SANDERS,
Secretary.

Final Gathering

The meeting today was the final assembly of the old board before the six members' office expire. The new board members, whose election will be announced tonight at the dinner of the San Fernando Valley Associated Chambers of Commerce in the Tuesday Afternoon club house, will take office at the next meeting.

All the old board members were present with the exception of C. E. Kimlin and Peter L. Ferry.

The regular order of business was suspended during the luncheon period, all the members joining in extending the outgoing directors a farewell meeting. The various members of the board expressed their appreciation of the support given them during their tenure of office; appreciation of co-operation of their fellow members and pledged themselves to stand by the Chamber of Commerce and co-operate in its undertakings, even though no longer associated with it in an official capacity.

W. E. Hewitt reported that the preliminary work on the sewer bonds has been completed and that the amount to be voted on will be announced at the meeting tonight at the Tuesday Afternoon club.

Mr. Hewitt also reported that the auditing committee is preparing to have the books of the chamber audited before the new board takes office, in order that they will have a "clean sheet" to start with.

A report on the Welfare Chest also was made by Mr. Hewitt. Progress of the drive is going forward, he said, and will continue until successfully completed.

Truth Serum Tests Planned for Convicts

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 27.—The widely heralded "truth serum"—that stuff which is said to compel a person to unconsciously tell the "truth," the whole truth and nothing but the truth—today entered the parish prison here for a series of experiments.

While enjoying a form of the "twilight sleep" several prisoners will be given a chance to elaborate upon certain details of crimes for which they have been convicted. Most of the men who have agreed to become subjects of the serum, maintain their innocence. The work will be conducted by Dr. R. F. House, Texas physician, who gained nation-wide publicity following his discovery of the effect that scopalamine has on the memory of a subject.

K. P. Will Entertain Legion Post Members

Glendale Legionnaires are to be guests tonight of the local Knights of Pythias at their lodge hall on South Brand boulevard and Park avenue. The affair is to begin at 8 o'clock and Commander Chamber Day of the Legion post urges all members to attend.

America Stands Pat On Rum Ship Capture

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—In the face of possible protests from Great Britain, official approval was given by the White House today to the seizure of the British registered rum schooner Tomaka by American customs agents.

This government, it was declared by an administration spokesman, has neither relinquished its rights to seize foreign liquor ships, either inside or outside the three-mile limit, when the belief exists that the vessels have violated the national prohibition act by establishing contact with the shore.

lower than they were last year. Turkeys wholesale were quoted by local poultrymen today at 40 cents per pound as to wholesale prices of 52 cents per pound last year. Retail prices will bring the price of turkey up to from 42 to 48 cents per pound.

Most of the poultrymen reported the bulk of "turkey shopping" for Thanksgiving already over and declared that sales were "good." It was also stated that though the supply was good those who had put their buying off until the last minute would probably tax the local supply.

Plenty of Turkeys At Big Drop In Prices

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 27.—Plenty of turkeys for everybody at the lowest price in ten years was the condition today in Portland of the pre-Thanksgiving day market. Extreme select birds are going at 28 to 30 cents a pound wholesale and good stock is available at 25 cents. The market was expected to drop late today and tomorrow. Hundreds of turkeys will remain unpacked, it was predicted, due to over-supplies poured in from Washington, Idaho and Oregon points. Cranberries, celery and sweet potatoes are plentiful at low prices.

Drop In Market Is Being Predicted at Seattle

SEATTLE, Nov. 27.—Thanksgiving turkeys are being offered here today at 40 to 50 cents retail. Jobbers have plenty of dressed stock at 35 to 38 cents, with some thin stock which can be had at less than 35 cents. Dining cars and steamships have bought freely the last few days of the choice stock, and considerable movement was received at satisfactory figures.

Jobbers expect a rush Wednesday afternoon, on the part of retailers and small jobbers to unload all the birds on hand and a late break in the retail market is predicted.

Indict Eight Men In Looting of Warehouse

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—The grand jury indicted eight men here today in connection with the $1,000,000 looting of the Werner Brothers' warehouse, a crime which police contend resulted indirectly in four murders. Simultaneously, "Dr." Spencer Brown, alleged master mind in the theft, and one of those indicted, was arrested by federal officers, accused of fraudulently altering government bonds and stamps.

GRILL WOMEN IN STUDENT'S DEATH

house Held for Investigation in Murder Probe

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Three women remanded to the South Clark street station and a fourth whose injuries were unexplained held under surveillance in the Lutheran Memorial hospital after prolonged questioning, were new elements today in the investigation of the murder of Freeman Louis Tracy, expert technician, former University of Chicago student.

A bloodstained automobile found abandoned in La Grange, may be the one police believe, from which Tracy's body was hurled as it sped through the campus.

The four women, it was learned, had attended a party at a roadhouse near La Grange. Further than this, they refused to talk. Miss Mayme Kinsella, in the hospital suffering from spinal injuries and a lacerated hand, was defiant when questioned.

The other three are Mrs. Alice Ramsey, Mrs. Thomas Torkelson and Mrs. Hazel Bell. Thomas Torkelson, husband of one of the women, was questioned, and then released.

Council Appropriates Money to Halt Recurrence of Threat to City

The sum of $1000 was transferred from the supply and expansion appropriation of the division of repairs to the fire protection fund last night by the City Council, to be expended under the supervision of County Forester Flinham in erecting fire breaks in the northern part of the city to prevent a recurrence of the threat that existed in that section during the recent fire in the San Rafael hills.

As all this work will be done within the city limits, the county fund available for this purpose does not apply in this case, the city having to stand the expense.

JACKSON SOUNDS WARNING ON MAIL

Christmas Postal Campaign
Keynote Demands Early
Parcel Shipping

The keynote of the Christmas postal campaign is "mail early," according to Captain D. Ripley Jackson, postmaster, who states that gifts addressed to points within one day's travel should be mailed not later than December 21; within two days' travel, not later than December 18; and for more distant points, not later than December 14; while parcels for local delivery should be mailed not later than December 22. All such mail may bear the inscription, "Please do not open until Christmas."

Other instructions urged upon the public by Postmaster Jackson, in order to facilitate mail service at this congested period, are: Prepay postage fully, wrap parcels carefully, address everything plainly, giving street address wherever possible, and placing sender's name in the upper left corner of the address side; pack articles in strong, durable containers and do not seal except when bearing a printed label or endorsement reading, "Contents merchandise, fourth class mail; this parcel may be opened for inspection if necessary."

Calls Attention
Valuable parcels may be insured, Postmaster Jackson suggests. He calls particular attention to one "don't"—namely, "don't enclose letters with parcels, as so doing subjects the entire contents to the letter rate. Written greetings such as 'Merry Christmas' and similar salutations, together with names, numbers or symbols for the purpose of description, may be enclosed with fourth class mail, and books may bear simple dedicatory inscriptions not of a personal nature. Other inscriptions or written communications will cause the entire parcel to carry letter postage rate. Communications prepaid at the first class rate, however, may be sent with parcels prepaid at the fourth class rate, by securely attaching the envelope of the former to the outside of the latter."

ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

OAKLAND, Nov. 27.—Pearl M. Pellaton, 21, stenographer, attempted suicide in the downtown streets by shooting herself after an altercation with her former suitor, Bertram C. Tresnor. Two shots were fired. One bullet missed and the other was deflected, inflicting a slight wound in the abdomen.

Radio Week Next on List Of Trials That Confront People of United States

By F. A. GRAHAM
Of The Evening News Staff
For those who have not weakened this is "Radio Week." Uncle John said so. Heinz is noted for 57 varieties of cucumbers and is rapidly becoming a man of millions. United States are noted for 52 different kinds of weeks and is rapidly becoming a nation of weeklings. Fifty-six is only a number, but 57 is pickles. Saturday is only bath day, but Sunday is another "week."

Last week everybody absorbed education and learned how to talk, but nobody can use this newly acquired knowledge yet for another seven days, because this week has to be spent listening to the broadchattering stations celebrating the freedom of speech and air combined. They are bad enough separate, but when combined and heated—good night.

This week people totally deaf, who never heard before, will continue to enjoy immunity from neighbors' complaints. Dozens of small boys and girls will try in vain to get their parents to lay off the head set during the bedtime story period. Many shell-like appendages will develop cauliflower symptoms before radio week has passed.

Melodies and Lectures
There will be melodies in "a" flat and lectures in the family flat. Before the perspiring listeners find relief in another week-end scrub, some ambitious but misguided mezzanine soprano is bound to sing that old song used so much as a defense for people charged with assault and battery, "She Sneezed at My Apartment. So I Knocked Her Flat."

All day Thursday, there will be special programs from broadcasting stations all over the world. By using an axe for an aerial, many people will get Turkey. Izzy Saine will open the program, reading a news item: N. E. Buddy decided to commit suicide. To make a success of it, he took matches, a can of kerosene, a rope, a revolver, and a phial of arsenic, and went to the bank of the Tujunga river. He tied the rope to his neck and a tree, poured the kerosene over his clothes, swallowed the arsenic, struck a match and ignited his clothes, pointed the revolver at his head and fired!

But, alas, 'twas not his time. The bullet bounced off, cutting the rope, he fell in the river and drowned, but this only caused him to cough up the arsenic. Convinced that there were better days in store for him, he resolved to go home and begin life over. It was Sunday. On his way home, he tried to cross Michigan avenue. Please omit flowers. And don't throw anything you can't lift.

Radio week would not be complete without something for children, who have not yet sprouted beards or resorted to Mineralava. So the next number will be a little bedtime story for the lads and lassies.

It's about a little Tujunga laddie. Won't Uncle John, up at KJH gnash his bridge-work, when he hears this one?

This little laddie lives in Tujunga. That's up in the Green Verdugo hills, where John Steven McGroarty lives with his yellow cat and Mrs. McGroarty. Everybody knows John. He was elected mayor of Tujunga once, but it didn't take. The town was vaccinated with some anti-incorporation serum or something. Anyway, there are a lot of little lads and lassies and their dogs there. And a few parents, too. Oh, yes, lads and lassies must have parents, even in the Green Verdugo hills.

The Charm of Tujunga
You know, lads and lassies, or you should know, if you study history, that they don't have a lot of street cars and automobiles crowding each other on the streets and running over people in that little town. That is why Tujungans like their little town, because they don't get their hip pockets full of violent flivvers every time they chase a cotton tail up the middle of the street.

The lads and lassies play in the streets there, some streets, and some of them maybe never saw a street car run by a cable. Their papas and mamas don't see street cars very often either, because the hill tribes don't like the din and clatter of big cities and don't often go there. So the lads and lassies up in Tujunga stay at home with their parents and enjoy the scenery.

What is scenery? Scenery is the pardner of climate and they are the two things which Tujunga has nothing else but. Now don't interrupt the story.

This little lad's name is Aloysius. Isn't that a pretty name? He has two sisters and a brother, and an awful appetite for jelly and jam and preserves. His mama often catches him rummaging in the cupboard for something sweet.

POW-WOW RECALLS PIONEER PERIOD

Notchers From Five Cities in Week-End Gathering on Alhambra Field

Combining the atmosphere of the early pioneer days with the modern age, a train of covered wagons and automobiles carrying seventy-three boys, all Pioneer Notchers, Rex C. Kelley and other leaders, journeyed Friday night to Alhambra for the big pow-wow on the athletic field of the high school.

There were 500 boys in camp, from Glendale, Hollywood, South Pasadena, Burbank and Alhambra, and when they had pitched their tents clear around the outer edge of the big athletic field and lighted their campfires for supper a truly pioneer scene was presented.

Later in the evening, in a half circle made by covered wagons, the boys gathered about a blazing campfire for songs, yells and stunts.

Swearingin Chosen
Jack Swearingin of Glendale was chosen chief of police, and his duties were keeping order in camp and posting the guards for the night.

Another honor for Glendale was having Bill Gray chosen as attorney for the defense. His first case was trying Dr. Grouch for arriving in camp with a wry face and bad disposition. The case resulted in conviction and Dr. Grouch was burned at the stake Saturday morning.

Upon the camp inspection Saturday, three Glendavians boys won first place, Buster Evans, Trusting Jennings and Hartley Hoffman.

Pioneer Talks
A talk by an old pioneer, who crossed the plains in a covered wagon when he was only 13 years old, was one of the features of the camp program.

The final event was a barbecue dinner served by the Alhambra Kiwanis Club. In addition to Mr. Kelley, J. M. Center, J. F. Gosser and H. C. Retberg accompanied the Glendale boys.

PROMOTERS TELL CAST OF COMEDY
Chairman Reveals Characters Picked for Main Roles in Musical Show

Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of the "Oh-Ho" show committee of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, is letting the Glendale public "in on the secret" of those who will be seen in the leading roles of the "Oh-Ho" musical extravaganza. These ten leads have speaking parts, but they are not the "whole show" by any means, as there are nearly fifty others taking part in the many fascinating dances, fraternity house doings and campus activities of this fun-fest musical attraction.

The cast of characters is as follows:
Professor Emerine, of the faculty.....Capt. D. Ripley Jackson
Major Langtry, of the army.....Jack Statham
Jack Davies, college man.....Billie Gibson
Billie Gibson, college man.....John Reber
Dick Langtry, college man.....Stanley Lindman
"Scrub," freshman fraternity pledge.....George Lowery
Mrs. Colonel Bradbury, Hawaiian millionaire.....Mrs. Charles A. Parker
Helen Morgan, co-ed.....Mrs. Malvern Barker
Dorothy Warner, co-ed.....Mrs. R. A. Puffer, Jr.
Neil Dierborn, heiress.....Miss Jane Pearsall
Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors.....
Cast Rehearses
"Oh-Ho" will be seen next week at the theatre of the Tuesday Afternoon Club. The many dancing choruses are rehearsing every afternoon, and the principals are busy evenings to stage what they fully expect to rank as the best show seen in Glendale in a long time.

Mrs. Montgomery is completing her ticket committees and other committees for the business handling of the show, and with her usual energy in events under her management, it is very evident that the theatre will be sold out for all performances of "Oh-Ho."

U. S.-Norwegian Treaty Renewed for 5 Years

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The United States and Norway have renewed for five years their treaty of arbitration providing for the reference of international disputes to the court of arbitration at The Hague.

Notes were exchanged between Secretary Hughes and the Norwegian minister providing that such disputes would be referred to the president of the court of international justice of the League of Nations, should the senate approve the entrance of the United States into the league court.

Dainty Table Decorations Add to Joys Of Feast Served Upon Thanksgiving Day

Such a harvest as there was in the little Puritan settlement in the year 1622! "God be praised!" said Governor Bradford, looking out across the rich, yellow fields with their wealth of harvest. "Let us appoint a day for solemn service of thanks to God who hath poured out upon us such rich blessings." And this was the first Thanksgiving.

We still offer thanks for the good we have had during the year and we celebrate the day with no less thankful hearts as we gather in family groups or with dear friends to eat the Thanksgiving feast.

While the perfectly cooked and served meal is the principal part of the day—in the eyes of the housewives, anyway—dainty and tasteful table decorations add to the enjoyment thereof. The illustration shows a unique and attractively trimmed table. The centerpiece is a noble Puritan huntman standing on a haymow with his gun in one hand and the "spoils of the chase," a wild turkey, in the other. The haymow consists of a low box covered with crepe paper shavings. Streamers of ribbon are run from it over the edge of the table, marking off each guest's place.

The hunter is nothing more nor less than a large lollipop dressed in crepe paper. His high hat, gun and game are of pasteboard.

The dainty Puritan maidens used as favors are also lollipops of a smaller size. They are also dressed in crepe paper—gray and white being the color scheme. At the upper left is shown the little lady more in detail. The faces are painted on the flat surface of the lollipop—a chance for the talented hostess or her friends to display their talents.

An attractive place card is shown, which may also be hand-painted.

At the upper right is a menu suggestion. The fowl should be roasted, of course. Sandwiches of the cold fowl with celery, cranberry jelly, and hot tea or cocoa might be served for a lunch later in the day if the dinner was served early in the afternoon.

GIRL WINNER IN ESSAY CONTEST

Modesto Student Gets First Prize; to Compete for National Award

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 27.—Two school girls and one school boy, were the winners in the American Legion contest for the best essay on the subject, "Why American Should Prohibit Immigration for Five Years." They are Caroline Miles, 17-year-old Modesto school student, who won first prize; Robert Van Etten, of the Oakland high school, second prize winner; and Genevieve Churchill, of Kelseyville, Lake County, third successful contestant.

According to Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, each of the winners will be awarded a medal by the American Legion, and Miss Miles' essay will be entered in the national contest to compete for the national scholarships of $750 as first award, $500 second award, and $250 as third award.

In her advocacy of total restriction of immigration for five years, Miss Miles said in part: "The plains, which were once bare, are now fruitful, too many men are seeking employment in the factories, and in all the large cities of the United States, a great per cent of the population consists of colonies of foreigners, who do not wish to become Americans. These foreigners establish their own schools and churches, print their own newspapers, speak their mother tongue—in brief, they maintain all of the traditions and customs from whence they came."

SECOND STAGE OF CAMPAIGN IS ON

Slight Difference in Credits as New Phase Starts in Competition

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager
The second lap of the greater circulation campaign has started with a rush, for the leaders realize that every day between now and December 20 counts and that they must make the most of every minute if they want to win one of the grand capital prizes that are being offered.

While the first period offered the greatest number of credits for the subscriptions, yet there is not such a vast difference between first and second period credits. For instance during the first period five subscriptions for one year each gave you 67,500 credits and during the second period you receive 65,000 credits for five yearly subscriptions. With such a slight difference in the number of credits that are given during the second period it will be to the interest of every one of the club members to put forth every possible effort during the second period, for every subscription you get places you that much closer to the top of the list and that much closer to one of the four grand capital prizes. Not to do your best during the second period means that you are letting a golden opportunity slip away from you right when you have the very best prizes right within your grasp.

First Period Success
The first period, which closed last Saturday night, was a great success from every standpoint, for hundreds of subscriptions poured into The Glendale Evening News office and the club members received hundreds of thousands of credits and you will note by the standing today that the club workers are coming right to the top and are out with the determination to bring their total to the million mark, and well they may for the grand prizes are certainly worth any effort that any one of the club members may have to use to win any one of them.

There are a number of workers in this campaign that are so close to the top that any one of them may be the leader tomorrow and each one of the leaders will hustle this period more than ever, for it's a case of make or break right now.

Much to Be Thankful for In Los Angeles County, Calif.

Thanksgiving Day this year finds America the favored land of all the earth. No wars or overwhelming catastrophes of nature disturb our prosperity and happiness. Therefore, let us forget for the moment our trifling individual woes and unite as a Nation in giving thanks for our many great blessings.

The country is at present enjoying a period of "good times." And though some of us, perhaps, feel that we have been slow in receiving our just share of this prosperity, it has only made us more determined to win it through our own efforts—by courage, thrift and industry.

In homes where the ice-man calls regularly, all the year around, you'll find the doctor doesn't have to call very often.

The great majority of our ailments can be traced to the food we eat, and the best guarantee of pure, wholesome food is a refrigerator always well filled with ice.

Food doesn't have to be actually spoiled to cause ill health. Children, especially, cannot be properly nourished by food that has become stale, or lost much of its real food value. And all perishable food begins to deteriorate rapidly when the temperature gets to 50 degrees, or warmer.

For your health's sake, keep your refrigerator well filled with ice all the year around.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 27.—With the assurance from political leaders and heads of civic organizations that Cleveland, voting under the Hare proportional representation system for a council of 25, had chosen the best "council in twenty years," interest now centers in the choice by the councilmen-elect of a city manager, who will be the real administrative head of the city for the next two years at least.

According to present indications, the salary of this official will be placed far higher than has been the practice in Cleveland heretofore. Rumor places the probable salary at $25,000, and this may be made as much as $50,000 if the Council decides that the kind of man they want to direct the city's business cannot be obtained for a less sum.

The city manager will be chosen by the new council, which takes office January 1. While an official election cannot occur until then both regular party men and outstanding independents in the new council favor an early meeting of councilmen-elect to select the manager long before that time.

The count for members of council under the proportional representation system was completed with speed that makes naught of predictions of foes of the plan that the make-up of the new legislative body would not be determined until long after the first of the year. The official count began Thursday morning following election. It was completed at noon of the following Tuesday.

The new council consists of fourteen Republicans, six Democrats and five Independents; but party lines are not expected to exercise a controlling voice in councilmanic matters.

Outstanding among the Independents who won are Prof. A. R. Hutton, "father of the new charter," Peter Witt, traction commissioner under Mayor Tom L.

Johnson, and more lately in the limelight as a foe to the new $50,000 Union station, which is under construction on the public square, Miss Marie B. Wing, secretary of the Ohio Consumers' League, and Mrs. Helen H. Green, president of the Cuyahoga County Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Witt and Hutton, it was predicted, would be leaders in the new council. Witt was once a candidate for mayor, losing the office only because of the "Mary Ann" ballot then in effect in Cleveland, whereby a candidate must receive a majority of all choices to win. Voters had given him a plurality of first-choice ballots, but not an actual majority, and when all choices were counted Harry L. Davis, afterward Governor of Ohio, became mayor and thereby began his political career.

Hutton has long been recognized as an authority on city governments and has been called in as a consultant by many cities throughout the country when new charters were being drafted. He wrote the new charter something over two years ago, and, practically single-handed, fought the battle which gave Cleveland proportional representation and provided a city manager for the city—by far the largest city in the United States of the world operating under this form of government.

Council will also choose a mayor who will preside over the council and perform other functions, most of them ornamental. He will be elected from the council's own membership, and already half a dozen more or less promising members of the council.

However, interest centers in the selection of the city manager, upon whose ability, it is conceded, the success of the great experiment depends.

"Council will determine policies; the city manager will carry them out," is the way Prof. Hutton outlines the division of power in the new charter.

TO DICTATE OVER ALL GERMANY

Anyway, That's What Dr. Von Kahr Is Seeking

Dr. August Von Kahr, who hopes to be dictator but whose power is questioned.

Serious civil war in Germany, which has smoldered ever since the Bavarian secessionists asserted their power, looms as Dr. August Von Kahr assumes the role of dictator of all Germany for the Bavarian fascist forces and plans to send his forces toward Berlin. President Ebert and Chancellor Stresemann of the Berlin government have issued a proclamation announcing that all supporters of Adolf Hitler, real leaders of the fascists, will be considered traitors.

On the Spur of the Moment

By ROY K. MOULTON

We would like to suggest in our weak and modest way that it is nearly time for some enterprising novelist to write a story dealing with the sex problem. It seems almost two weeks since we have had to look up a new book to keep it away from the hired girl, who is really a nice young woman and little acquainted with American literature. Two weeks without a new smudge of sex literature, with all the well-known and time-honored embellishments of plot, is a long time. It almost seems as though readers are purposely put on a diet. There is no valid excuse for a hiatus in the sex propaganda, for it is easy to write a new sex novel. All one needs to do is to take an old sex novel (any one), give it a new title with a little swearing in it, and change the names of the characters. If the title of the old sex story is "Darned," just change it to "Darned" or "Gosh Darned" or "Ding-Swizzled" and give him and her new names. After reading twenty-seven sex stories with the same plot during August and September, they become a habit, and to be held up for several days with no new one published is rather a bore. We have a strong notion to take this matter up with the Authors' League and demand an explanation. We raise tophet with the coal miners when they fail to produce the coal we need. Why should we not do the same when we are deprived of our daily pipeful of literary soot?

"Private Becomes General"—Headline. Private Stock becomes General Indisposition, we presume.

THE GLENDALE

"Monna Vanna," made by William Fox from the famous play by the great Belgian, Maurice Maeterlinck, continues to thrill audiences at the Glendale Theatre by its sweep and scope.

First produced in Paris with Madame Maeterlinck in the title role, the drama has had a vivid history. Banned by England for ten years because of the tense scene, it has been presented on practically every stage in Europe, was first produced in the United States in 1909, in New York, and Mary Garden won fame with it in 1913-14. It was later produced in London with startling success.

The theme of "Monna Vanna" is found in one of the most well-known of the Ten Commandments—"Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife." Produced on a lavish scale, it quite lives up to its dramatic reputation as a photograph and is bound to be immensely popular.

THE GATEWAY

"Woman-Proof," the first of the "new policy" Paramount pictures, offers Thomas Meighan in a role ideally suited for him. And to further enhance the story, charming Lila Lee plays his leading woman. The film was directed by Alfred E. Green. George Ade, famous American humorist, wrote the story.

Is any man "Woman-Proof"? It was the boast of Tom Rockwood, played by Meighan, that he was. And then came Lila Lee, in one of the most fascinating roles she has ever portrayed. And was young Rockwood proof against feminine wiles for long?

More than six months were required to make the research necessary to produce "Woman-Proof." Over 1,000 letters from admirers of Thomas Meighan contributed to the development of his role of Tom Rockwood. The result is a film of universal appeal.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FIRE STICK

Once upon a time as Uncle Wiggily was hopping by the house where Sammie and Susie Little-tail, the rabbit children, lived, the bunny gentleman saw Sammie, looking sad, standing at a window.

"I wonder why Sammie isn't at school this morning?" thought Uncle Wiggily. "Something must be wrong. Perhaps he doesn't know his lessons and is afraid of the Lady Mouse teacher. But he shouldn't be. I'll just hop across the street and find out."

So Uncle Wiggily tapped with his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch on the door of the rabbit house. Mrs. Little-tail invited Mr. Longears in.

"Why isn't Sammie at school?" asked the bunny gentleman. "Is anything the matter?"

"Sammie had a little cold and sore throat, so I kept him at home," explained Mrs. Little-tail. "But now I almost wish I had let him go to school."

"Why?" asked Uncle Wiggily, for Mrs. Little-tail shook her head very discouraged like.

"Oh, Sammie is such a tease," she answered with a sigh. "He wants to play soldier all the while and he shouts and makes believe bang guns and—"

"Excuse me, mother," said Sammie, as politely as he could, "but I can't have any fun playing soldier when I can't beat my drum. That's why I have to holler so—rub-a-dub-dub—"

"Oh, Sammie! Will you please stop that dreadful noise!" begged the rabbit lady, holding her paws over her ears.

"I have to make the noise like that 'cause I haven't any drum sticks," went on Sammie. "If I had some drum sticks I could play soldier and beat the to holler rub-a-dub-dub!"

"Oh, dear! This is dreadful!" sighed the rabbit lady. "Where are his drum sticks?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "I might beat the drum for him very softly, you know," he whispered to Mrs. Little-tail. "Then it wouldn't make your head ache. I know what it is to have boys stay in the house to play."

"Sammie's drum sticks are lost and we can't find them," said his mother.

"Then I'll go look for new ones and I will play soldier with Sammie," offered the bunny gentleman kindly. "You sit by the window, Sammie," he said, "and watch for me to come back with the drum sticks."

"Then we'll have some fun!" cried the rabbit boy. "I'm glad you came, Uncle Wiggily."

"So am I," thought poor Mrs. Little-tail.

Uncle Wiggily hopped across the fields, his pink nose going twinkle, twinkle, tank. He looked here and he looked there to find sticks for Sammie's drum. On a hillside grew the sumach bushes with their bright red leaves. And from each cluster of leaves stuck a slender branch and on the end grew a cluster of velvet berries.

"Oh, ho!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped to the hillside. "Those red sumach clusters of berries are just like drum sticks. I'll take two to Sammie and he can beat his drum softly, so it will not make his mother's head ache. Sumach drum sticks will be fine."

So Uncle Wiggily broke off two of the branches with clusters of sumach berries on. True they looked more like the sticks for a bass drum than for a small, snare drum, but what matter?

Holding the red drum sticks in his paws, Uncle Wiggily began to hop back to Sammie's house. But the rabbit gentleman had not gone very far before, all of a sudden, out from behind a big rock popped the Bob Cat.

"One moment!" howled the Bob Cat, wiggling his silly little tail and shaking the tassels on his ears. "One moment, I'm going to nibble you!"

"Oh, are you?" asked the bunny, and from behind his back, where he was holding them in one paw, he brought out the red sumach drum sticks. "Well, if you nibble me, I shall have to be impolite enough to bang you on the nose with Sammie's drum sticks!" said the rabbit.

But as soon as the Bob Cat saw the red sumach he howled: "Oh, he has fire sticks! He had red hot fire sticks to burn my nose! I'd better not stay here!" And away ran the Bob Cat, taking his silly little tail with him.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "He thought the sumach was better and he could go to school.

So whenever you see clumps of red sumach think of the bunny and how he fooled the Bob Cat. And then, if the toothbrush doesn't splash water in the eye of the needle and make it blink, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the honeysuckle.

Rev. Father James S. O'Neill of the Holy Family church is Glendale's senior clergyman in point of service and may be considered an old settler here. Father O'Neill was appointed to Glendale by Bishop Conaty in 1907.

At the meeting of the city trustees last night a complaint was offered by the citizens of Tropic concerning the water that flows from the Glendale streets and floods their city.

Mrs. Fannie Yantis Stockbridge of 810 Lomita avenue is playing the part of Miss Hazy in "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" at the Burbank theatre in Los Angeles. She is certainly immense!

A woman advertised for a caretaker for her town home, and after interviewing a large number of applicants, found one that suited her. "Thanks for giving me the job," said the man, "and might I ask you a question? You stated in the ad that you wanted a married man. Does that mean you have some work in view for my wife?"

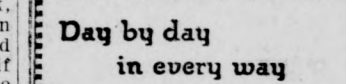

"Oh, no," replied the woman. "I wanted a married man so as to be sure I'd get some one used to taking orders from a woman." —The Argonaut (San Francisco).

AMERICANIZATION EFFORTS PRAISED BY POLISH MINISTER

DR. WROBLEWSKI

"The Americanization movement must be regarded as one of the most important manifestations in the current national and social life of the United States," declares Dr. Wladyslaw Wroblewski, Polish minister of the U. S., in a recent interview. "To an envoy of a country to America the Americanization movement might seem at glance adverse to his country's interests. Certainly it is working, so far as some other countries among them Poland are concerned, tends to reduce the valuable civic element of the countries at the rate at which this element becomes assimilated by American and increases the number of American citizens.

"Such a conclusion would be indeed superficial. I have come to this realization after a study of the American viewpoint as well as the point of view of the mother countries of emigrants, especially that of Poland, and after reflecting on the reactions of the process of Americanization on the general interests of mankind.

Program Should Be Welcomed
Americanization as I understand it means a program of prethis republic to become American citizens, fully alive to their national duties as well as to their privileges. The ultimate goal is to reach the highest attainable level of American patriotism for all American citizens. Whoever loves his own country enough to wish her a similar development of national conscience can only welcome from the bottom of his heart the realization of such a program in America.

Undoubtedly the Americanization plan must consider chiefly the immigrants—those who come here with an inadequate or no knowledge of American ideals and seek to become citizens. I cannot refrain from expressing my admiration at the way in which American authorities and organizations stretch forth a helping hand to those who arrive from other shores. The core of the American method seems to be to treat each immigrant from the very outset as a prospective fellow-countryman.

Aliens Find Sympathy
The American people, far from regarding him with suspicion or distrust, offer him sympathy and guidance in his ambition to achieve American citizenship. This spirit of goodwill shown to immigrants is the secret of the magnificent display of patriotic fervor among former aliens and their children which was witnessed on America's entry into the World war.

Any campaign, inside or outside of America, against this process of making patriots out of aliens senseless, for the success of Americanization is a mystery which can be found only in the depths of the American soul. So long as American citizenship means the opening of the largest opportunities of life, securing of the greatest protection yet advised for the enjoyment of life and liberty, the United States can accept every criticism of Americanization with an undisturbed peace of mind."

A young lady entered a fur store and a polite salesman came forward.

"I want to get a muff," she said.

"Yes'm," said the salesman. "What fur?"

The young lady looked surprised.

"Why," she said, "to keep my hands warm, of course!"—Pittsburgh Christian Advocate.

Worthless German Money Passing Out Bogus Article Prohibition—Its Future Attitude On Orientals

By Gil A. Cowan

Germany's worthless money is the subject of W. B. Kirk's letter in his tour through Germany, as he writes for The Glendale Evening News.

It is said that Germany has printed marks totaling hundreds of quadrillions, and all of them are worth, actually, about $100,000 in American money.

There is considerable criticism in the editorial columns throughout the country in regard to Germany flooding the market with this "phony" money.

For the bankrupt nation has collected a fabulous sum from the people who bought the marks, hoping they would "come back."

Wall street bankers have estimated that Americans have been bilked (and Germans profited) to the extent of more than three billions of dollars.

It looks as though the United States was not only going to present the vanquished with sufficient to pay their indemnity, but turn around and consider the cancellation of part of the allied loans when Germany doesn't "come through" gracefully.

Flooding the market with bum money was to be expected of the Germans, and every patron of the 5 and 10-cent stores would have been able to have told the financiers what to expect.

The Germans have the reputation of passing out the bogus, useless, breakable, worthless substitute for the real thing. They have produced the synthetic stuff, they have made weird substitutes from junk; they have done everything, it seems, but endeavor to do the right thing by others.

In their scientific and scholarly wisdom the Germans have forgotten that there is something more than material manifestation in this old world of ours. There is something more in the article than the stuff of which it is made. There is that quality of character of workmanship and honest merit which cannot be overcome.

In the news accounts each day we read of rum-runners, bootleggers and drunken orgies. And we wonder whether we have prohibition at all.

Why, in best Los Angeles circles it is said that people are beginning to list their bootleggers and bootleggers list their clients. There is better liquor to be had, according to an authority on the subject, whom we met, incidentally, in Los Angeles, than in the saloons south of the border.

The Shreveport, La., Times says editorially: "A prohibition agent in Georgia, has been attending college football games, and notices that hip-pocket flasks are quite common among spectators."

"The prohibition agent, Dismuke by name, adds that there seems to be less drinking among the students than among the alumni and others of the generation marching toward the discard. This is significant, for the success or failure of compulsory prohibition depends on whether or not prohibition can prevent the rising generation from getting the liquor habit."

What is the eastern attitude toward the recent decision against the oriental and alien leaseholders in California and other western states which have enacted legislation to keep this country free of an unassimilable population?

We quote from the Auburn editorial service, which gives the following opinion: "The supreme court decision establishing the constitutionality of western laws forbidding Japanese ownership of land is probably a good thing, on the whole, for the entire country. It will entail a certain amount of injustice to individuals, and that is regrettable. But there is a broad justice in it and a prospect of genuine national benefit."

"Japan itself is said to prohibit the ownership of real estate by foreigners, in this same manner, so that there can be no national offense in the discrimination against 'ineligible' Asiatics. As regards aliens who are eligible to citizenship, but do not take advantage of their opportunity, who are forbidden to own land in the state of Washington, there need be little sympathy wasted on them. If they do not want the responsibilities of American citizenship along with its privileges, they may properly be deprived of the privileges. Such a prohibition is a powerful incentive to Americanization."

"What is the aim of women?" asks a suffrage magazine. We would say that, recently, their aim has been pretty good.—Charles-ton Courier.

LADIES! DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

Use Grandma's Sage Tea and Sulphur Recipe and Nobody Will Know.

The use of Sage and Sulphur for restoring faded, gray hair to its natural color dates back to grandmother's time. She used it to keep her hair beautifully dark, glossy and attractive. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect.

But brewing at home is messy and out-of-date. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get this famous old preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, which can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, it becomes beautifully dark and glossy.—Advertisement.

A BIT OF ADVICE

First—Don't Delay. Second—Don't Experiment.

If you suffer from backache, headaches or dizzy spells; if you rest poorly and are languid in the morning; if the kidney secretions are irregular and unnatural in appearance, do not delay. In such cases the kidneys often need help.

Doan's Kidney Pills are especially prepared for kidney trouble—they are recommended by thousands. Can residents desire more convincing proof than the statement of a citizen of this locality? Mrs. E. S. Burke, 625 E. 6th St., Pomona, Cal., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit and gladly recommend them. My kidneys were weak and I had attacks of backache and felt dull and languid. I was often dizzy and nervous and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills for these attacks and they helped me, relieving the backaches and regulating my kidneys."

Price, 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Burke had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

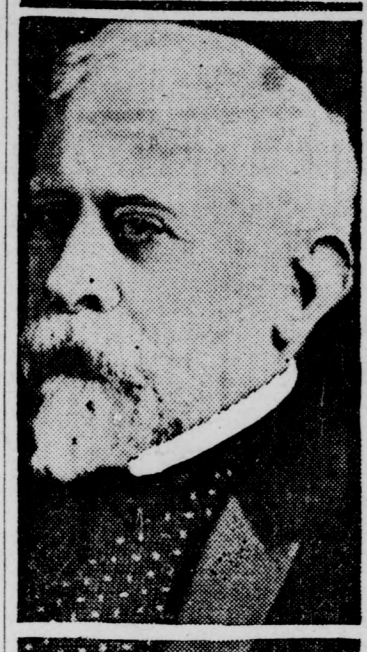

Wartime Habits Cut Wheat Consumption

WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—The consumption of wheat in the United States is being limited, to the disadvantage of both the producer and the consumer, by bread-saving habits formed during the war and which are now "needlessly continued," the department of agriculture declares.

"The return to pre-war eating habits in the use of wheat and the feeding of low-grade wheat to livestock was suggested by department officials as one method of getting rid of the big surplus which has almost ruined many American flour producers."

"The custom of serving bread with 'a la carte' orders in restaurants, hotels and railway dining cars was abandoned, and has not since been generally revived," the department said. "Bread is not consumed liberally at the prices charged. In cafeterias, for example, the rate is usually two slices, with butter, for a nickel. This means that the cafeteria gets from 25 to 30 cents for a pound loaf of bread. In the higher priced hotels and restaurants and in dining cars the charge for an order of bread may be as high as 20 cents. At such a rate, the disparity between the price of bread and the cost of the wheat in it is enormous."

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ACUTE CORYZA (Common Colds)—No. 1

Are you subject to colds? If so, then there is something wrong in your program of living.

How about your diet? Are you careful to have balanced meals on the principles that I have given you so that they supply the elements you need to keep all of the tissues functioning well, and thus resistant to infections? Or are you having an excess amount of acid-forming foods so that you have a degree of acidosis? Or are you getting excess protein so that you are suffering from putrefaction in the intestines and auto-intoxication? Or are you over-eating, even the proper foods? Or are you under-eating?

All of these things will lower the tissue resistance and make you more apt to catch cold.

There are no "mucus" forming foods, as I have told you before. It has been conspicuously shown that diets lacking in vitamins and mineral matters will cause inflammation of the mucous membranes, as well as of other tissues of the body. There are no foods which in themselves will cause mucus. We have articles on balanced diet, acidosis, and auto-intoxication which you may have (if you self-address and stamp the envelope you send for them). So much for the diet question.

How about your supply of fresh air? That is highly important. In the summer, this is not so much a problem; but in the winter, especially in the cold climates, there is very apt to be stagnant and impure air in the house if the windows and doors are all tightly closed, day and night.

Dress in warmer night clothes and use more blankets on your bed to keep warm, and have fresh air. It is found that those who live outdoors and sleep outdoors are much less apt to have colds. Even among the tubercular patients in sanatoriums, those who have outdoor sleeping rooms have very many less colds.

How about your dressing? You should be dressed warmly enough to be comfortable night and day. Prolonged chilling does lower the resistance so that the germs, which are always present on the mucous membranes, will get a strangle hold. You must realize that in general, that everything which lowers the vitality of the body, such as over-working, insufficient sleep, improper diet, improper air, lack of exercise, etc., will predispose you to colds. Malformations and tumor masses, excess adenoid tissue, chronically inflamed and enlarged tonsils also are predisposing causes.

There is one type of cold which may get you even though you may be in vigorous health, and that is the acute infectious cold. You know that type of a cold and how it will run through a family.

The technical name for a cold is Acute Coryza, and more people suffer from acute coryza than from any other single ailment. If you have an acute cold, be careful not to pass it on; do not talk very close to any one, and if you are going to sneeze or cough, be sure to do it in your handkerchief. Do not handle food that others have to eat. Do not kiss anyone, especially babies and children.

The Philadelphia Forum, an organization of men interested in civic improvement, has printed on the back of its admission cards, the request to its members not to attend club meetings when they are suffering from colds, fevers, and sore throats. It makes an appeal to them to concede to the rights of others, by observing these precautions against spreading disease. They report that satisfactory results have been attained by the complete observance of this request.

If other organizations, and theatres and schools, would adopt a similar plan, it would be a splendid idea, and would prevent the spread of many diseases.

Colds cause inconvenience and suffering. Serious complications may result from them. They must not be considered quite so lightly as they are.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am seventeen years of age, and have been going with a young man of my own choice for two years. I have gone with him only until recently when I went with a younger man from a nearby city. My friend did not say much to me because I went with this other fellow, but I could tell he didn't like it. He goes with no one but me. My mother doesn't mind if I go with this young man from the city, but she thinks it isn't just fair to my "steady," seeing he doesn't go with other girls. Is she right?

My birthday isn't a great way off, and the fellow with whom I have been going for two years has told me that he intends to get me a wrist watch. Would it be all right for me to accept this gift with the understanding that if we break up I will return it?

Is it all right for me to allow this young man to kiss me once in awhile?

I am considered, quite good-looking and would be more so if it were not for my nose, which is long and turns up at the end. I have been tempted to buy one of the nose shapers, which one sees advertised often, but as they cost quite a bit, I would like to know if they really do any good before purchasing. Would you advise me to get one?

QUESTION BOX.

It is fair for a girl to go with more than one young man unless she is engaged. I can see how your mother feels about the matter, but I question the wisdom of your going with the one boy. Only too often a girl turns down other invitations to go with one boy and then finds that, later on, he drops her for another girl and she finds herself lonely and without.

This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use your full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.—The Editor out young men friends. It is not correct to accept a wrist watch unless you are betrothed.

A girl is not supposed to let a boy kiss her unless she is engaged. Very often the heart rules in this matter, and the girl gives her love before the boy asks her to marry him. It is a very great mistake to be promiscuous and kiss freely.

I have never seen any one who was benefited by a nose shaper. There may be such cases, however. Personally, I like a nose that turns up, and would advise you to leave yours alone.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: We are two girls of seventeen and eighteen. We are going with two young men, and we love them very much. We are faithful to them and do not have dates with any other boys, because we know they would disapprove very much.

We have found that they have been making dates with two girls who are indecent. We hate to see these young men go wrong as they are excellent boys. Please advise us what to do to win them away from these two girls.

BOBBY AND BILLY.

Probably the harder you try to win the boys away from the other girls, the more interest they will take in them. If you find the boys prefer indecent company, let them go, because you would not want to be classed as their kind. If the boys are of an excellent character as you believe them to be, they will see their own mistake without any interference from you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you please suggest a few articles that would be nice for a girl to give to her steady young man friend? I have been going with a young man for five months.

PATIENCE.

Since you are not engaged to the young man, a gift from you to him, would be out of place. A card at birthdays or holidays, is all right.

ANSWERED LETTERS

Fourteen—When lemon juice is used to keep blonde hair from turning dark, the amount should equal the juice from a medium sized lemon to a basinful of water. Use this in the last rinse when shampooing.

S. S. S.—A girl with black eyes, black hair and a dark skin can wear to advantage all the rich shades of the autumn coloring. If you cannot have the roots of the superfluous hair destroyed, extract the coarse hairs with blunt end tweezers, and bleach the finer hair with peroxide.

M. E. R.—The formula for darkening the brows, which is made up of one drachm of peroxide of manganese, one drachm of water, and two drachms of glycerine, is correct and harmless. You may also use it on lashes; but it is well to know that this or any other oil, if it should get into the eye, would make it smart.

J. T.—Cod liver oil, taken plain, is the best thing for increasing weight rapidly. If you find this oil unpleasant to take, pour a little grapefruit juice into a glass, add a tablespoonful of cod liver oil and gulp. Eat some grapefruit afterward and there will be no taste of the oil left in your mouth or throat.

Thankful—Comb all the long hair together and tie it at back of the head. Curl all the rest just as you did when the hair was bobbed. If your hair is long enough, you can arrange the back over one of the ventilated forms, which will give the impression of a thick coil of hair; otherwise you will have to add a braid.

G. C.—I do not think that you will injure your spine if you only wear the high heels for very special occasions.

Miss A. M.—For oily skin, wash in water softened with bran; better still, make small bags from cheese cloth and into each put some raw, old fashioned kind of oatmeal, in which there is a small amount of powdered Castile soap and several drops of benzoin. Use these bags in the place of wash rags and soap.

M. X.—If your scalp is in a healthy condition your hair will grow, provided your general health does not undermine it. If you have dandruff, excessive oiliness or dryness, there is special treatment for such a case. Since you have not stated, I can only advise the one excellent thing, no matter what is wrong with the scalp, and that is to awaken its healthy functioning through a daily and a vigorous massage of all the muscles.

Ida M. D.—I will be glad to mail you the formula for the cucumber lotion if you send in a stamped self-addressed envelope repeating your request. In the meantime, you can bleach the skin with cucumber juice. After removing it apply either a cream or a fine oil.

Tomorrow—Shapely Nails.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Little Tommy had a sore toe, so his mother thought this a good opportunity to make him eat his cereal.

"Tommy," she said, "If you eat your oatmeal, it will cure your toe." Shortly afterward Tommy came to his mother with a very disgusted air.

"I ate my cereal," he said, "but my toe isn't any better. I guess the darn stuff went down the wrong leg."—Judge.

Mrs. C. M.—If "Mrs. W." will use milk for cleaning piano keys, she will get satisfactory results. I have been using it for years and find it very good.

Answer—I am sure that not only Mrs. W., but all of us, thank you for this very helpful hint. It was good of you to take the trouble to send it to me.

A Reader Friend—"Here is the way I put up my string-beans this year. I thought other women might like the recipe, for next year, if not for this. It is a very successful method: Salted String Beans: Wash, then string the beans. Cut them into short pieces. Blanch for five minutes (that is, put them in a cheese-cloth bag and let this bag remain in boiling water for five minutes). Then remove the bag from the boiling water and sink it at once in cold water; let it remain in this water till the beans are cold. Now drain them well, then salt them, adding two heaping cups of salt to about one peck basketful of the beans. Let stand from two to three hours to draw out their water. Pack them into jars, filling the jars very full (I press them down with a small potato masher). If you find that you have not enough brine to cover the beans in the jars, you can fill up the jars with water which has been previously boiled and then cooled, but do not add any more salt. Seal jars airtight and store."

Answer—I am sure that many housekeepers will try this method next fall and will have excellent success with it, as you have had. Thank you for sending it to us.

P. W.—"Will some reader kindly give me a recipe for pickled pecan nuts?"

Answer—Let us hope that someone will know of this recipe and will send it to me, to publish here. I have only a recipe for pickled walnuts, but you might try it, using the pecans instead of the walnuts. Here it is:

Pickled Walnuts—Examine the walnut meats to make sure there are no shells left among them. Now put into a saucepan the following spiced vinegar: Two cups of vinegar, one cup of sugar and one teaspoon of ground cinnamon; bring this to the boiling point, add enough of the walnut meats to be covered (do a few at a time, in this way), and simmer fifteen minutes before packing the nuts into a sterilized glass jar, pouring some of the spiced vinegar over them, and sealing airtight.

Tomorrow—Cooking the Thanksgiving Goodies.

Locals and Santa Monica to Clash

GRID TEAMS TO BATTLE SATURDAY

Red and Black Due to Meet Long Beach in Finals for South's Title

By AL DIX
Of The Evening News Staff.
Safely advanced another step in their march for the Southern California championship, by virtue of the defeat handed San Bernardino last Saturday, the Glendale Union High school's gridiron warriors are now being pointed for the game with Santa Monica, champions of the Bay league, at Patterson Field, Occidental college, December 1.

The team left the field after the Ontario struggle in good shape with the exception of Captain Ronny West, who suffered a recurrence of the old injury to his thigh muscles, and Lavelle, star end, who is limping as the result of a hard fall on his hip. Coach Hayhurst, however, expects to have his star receiver and interceptor of forward passes back in the game next Saturday, and West may be able to play part of the time.

Crucial Struggle
Now that San Bernardino is a thing of the past, it is violating no confidence to say that Coach Hayhurst regarded this as the crucial struggle in the path of the Red and Black to the finals with Long Beach. The day before the game he stated that if Glendale could win from San Bernardino, they need not have any fear of other teams they were called upon to meet.

While San Bernardino was the first team to cross the Red and Black goal line this year, they lacked the necessary punch to repeat their performance in the final periods of the game, and were tiring fast in the last quarter. It is not too much of a compliment to call Hayhurst's squad a "wonder team." They have not only defeated several teams that according to advance dope had it on them in weight, open attack and versatility. Each time, however, the local squad has outcharged their opponents, displayed more fight and gained more first downs from scrimmage than have their opponents.

In Triple Tie
Santa Monica's record this season has not been especially impressive, although they are the winners in the Bay league. They were in a triple tie at the end of the season with San Pedro and Compton, and won out in the play off. "The greatest fight I have," said Coach Hayhurst this morning, "is to kill the spirit of over confidence which seems to have invaded the team since last Saturday's victory. While I do not believe that Santa Monica will be quite as tough a proposition to handle as San Bernardino, the present style of play and the ability to take advantage of so-called "breaks" often gives the weaker team the victory."

With this in view, the second string men are to be given a workout this week, and if the regulars show a tendency to loaf, they will be replaced immediately. If any one goes to Oxy field next Saturday expecting to see Glendale meet a "set-up" and run up a big score they are going to be disappointed. The only thing, to our mind, that gives Glendale the advantage is the fact that the general run of football has been of higher class in the Central than in the Bay league, this year.

Then Long Beach
If it should happen that Glendale tucks Santa Monica safely away, they will be called upon to meet Long Beach, in the final game for the championship of Southern California. In this game, if they reach it, they will be called upon to exert every ounce of endeavor of which they are capable as the coast town has a stellar aggregation, and one that will outweigh the locals, composed of men that have played together for several years. To reach the stage where participation in such a game is possible is in itself an honor of which all Glendale should be justly proud regarding the outcome of the game itself.

The Elliott brothers, and in fact every man on the squad are busy today receiving the congratulations of their friends. Howard Elliott's field goal from the forty-two yard line which snatched the lead from San Bernardino was all the more remarkable in that he kicked it from an angle. His foot work last Saturday stamps him as one of the greatest booters in prep football ever developed in this part of the state. Three times he shot the oval between the cross bars from difficult angles, and his line bucking and passing was all that could be desired. The other brother, Bud, at quarter, ran his team like a college general, and scored the only touchdown on a pass from "Breezy." Ryan also was a consistent gainer.

Their Work Great
The work of the Red and Black line cannot be commended too highly. Outweighed thirteen

TWO TEAMS TIED IN BIG TEN RACE

Illinois and Michigan End Season With Unbroken List of Victories

CHICAGO, Nov. 27.—Two teams top the pile in the Big Ten, each with an unbroken string of victories, with the conference schedule completed.

Illinois' claim to title honors is better than Michigan's, as Zuppke's men met five conference teams, while the Wolverines trimmed four. The Illini tallied 64 points in defeating Iowa, Northwestern, Chicago, Wisconsin and Ohio State, with but six points for the vanquished, while Michigan scored 48 to opponents' six in beating Ohio State, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

In each case, the Hawkeyes came closest to spilling the record of the big ten leaders. Chicago, however, takes place next to Illinois and Michigan with five victories and one defeat.

Minnesota Fourth
Minnesota, a contender until the last game, finished fourth with one defeat by Michigan and a scoreless tie with Wisconsin. Iowa and Indiana tied for fifth, though the Hawkeyes showed more consistent strength. Both teams won as many as they lost. Iowa had three victories, three defeats and Indiana two, each scoring but 10 points in beating Purdue and Northwestern.

The husky Wisconsin Badgers finished seventh with but one victory, that over Indiana.

Purdue and Ohio State had one victory and four defeats apiece. Northwestern lost six, while their opponents were scoring 10 points. The Purple goes into training for next season, for obvious reasons.

BULL AND HACK READY TO GRAB

Finish Match on Program for ns; Ring Bouts Also Scheduled

After a lay-off of several weeks, the mat artists will come into their own again tonight when Bull Montana and Hackenschmidt, local man, will meet in a finish match, best two falls out of three, at Hahn's auditorium, 109 North Brand boulevard, in the main event of the Glendale Athletic club program.

On the occasion of their last meeting, Labor day, they labored to a draw decision, neither one securing a fall. Ever since that time both have been claiming supremacy, and the tussle tonight should settle the question for good. If both men are in good condition, and they say they are, the match should be a good one. They are very evenly matched, as any one who saw them before will tell you, and it seems that it will be a question of endurance. Bull keeps himself in good condition at all times, and has a great following in Hollywood. A block of seats has been taken for his friends who will be on hand to cheer him to victory, as the football men say. Hack is ready for the battle of his life, he says, and expects to win in reasonable time.

Boxing Bouts, Too
In the semi-windup Sammy Waltz, who last week fought a four-round draw with Larry Smith, will meet Ernie Stocker. Waltz came within an ace of taking a licking last week, and he will not have any set-up in Stocker. Most of those present thought Smith should have had the decision, and it is certain that Waltz will give everything he has to re-instate himself in the good graces of the fans.

Two other bouts round out the card, Kid Payl and Jack Carter, and Young Kerns meeting Young Loncho. It very often happens that these preliminaries produce more real fighting than the main event, and these two look good. The boys can sock, and are willing to take one in order to give one, and that is what the fans like. The pasting starts at 8:30 o'clock sharp.

FIGHT RESULTS

At New York—Batting Leonard, Philadelphia, got the decision over Danny Lee, New York, twelve rounds.

At Brooklyn—Sammy Nahl, New York, and Charley Kohler, Brooklyn, fought a draw, six rounds.

As Boston—Young Stribling, Man, Ga., won over Joe Eagen, of Dorchester, in ten rounds; Eddie Williams, East Boston, defeated Red Watson, of New Orleans, in eight rounds; Terry Parker, South End, won from Frankie Curry, eight rounds.

At Pittsburgh—Bricky Ryan outpointed Pete Zivic, of Pittsburgh, ten rounds; Curly Wilshur, Canada, outpointed Bobby Garcia, U. S. Army, ten rounds.

At Newcastle, Pa.—Rosey Stoy of Newcastle, outpointed Mos Pugh, England, eight rounds; Patsy Brannigan, Pittsburgh, scored technical knockout over Trigger Holt, Kansas City, five rounds.

At Detroit—Tiger Smith, of Hamilton, and Johnny Wolgast, fought a slow draw; Tony Ross, of Pittsburgh, outpointed Phil McGraw, Detroit.

New York Yanks to Seek Urban Shocker

NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—The New York Yanks will enter the bidding for the services of Urban Shocker, star pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, it developed here today. Shocker has been placed on the market by the Browns, according to statements emanating from St. Louis, the spitballer having been suspended by the Mound City club late in the 1923 season for alleged insubordination.

The Yanks once had Shocker on their payroll but shipped him to the Browns with Cullup, Gedeon Nunamaker in the deal for Derrill Pratt.

PUGS ALL EAGER TO BATTLE FOES

Champions Must Fight Title Bout Every Six Months, Is Latest Ruling

By GEORGE T. HOOK
For International News Service.
NEW YORK, Nov. 27.—In the statements of boxing champions of all sizes, shapes and forms, are to be taken at face value, these well-known United States, between now and the blooming of the first rose of summer, will take on the appearance of an enlargement of the Battle of Belleau Woods in 1917.

And what boxer's word is not to be taken at the face value of a mark? At least as it relates to his overwhelming desire to cross mits with anyone and everyone from an insect-crisp, to a modern Cyclops.

Yes, if words mean anything in the lives of our pugilistic aristocrats, the Johnstown flood will be re-enacted this winter in bloody form; noses will be knocked shapeless; ears supplanted by tin, and butchers will do a bootlegger's business, supplying beef-steak for optics hand-painted black and blue.

Lots of Champions
All this is the result of a meeting of boxing champions called recently by the New York State Boxing Commission. In attendance were Johnny Dundee, world's featherweight champion; Mickey Walker, world's welterweight champion; and Mike McTigue, world's light-heavyweight champion, and representatives of Joe Lynch, world's bantamweight champion; Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion; Pancho Villa, world's flyweight champion; and Jack Bernstein, 130 pound champion, whatever that animal is. Others, not quite in the same strata of royalty and present in person, were Gene Tunney, American light-heavyweight champion, and Frankie Genaro, American flyweight champion.

Jack Dempsey was missing, like food among starving Armenians; and Harry Greb, world's middleweight champion, pulled a Conan Doyle, and was there in the spirit form of a telegram.

The convale of kings was called for the purpose of explaining the Boxing Commission's new ruling that champions must engage in a bona fide title bout at least once every six months, or suffer indefinite suspension. This rule has been substituted for the rescinded rule whereby the commission arbitrarily vacated or awarded boxing titles.

McCormick's Orator
Boxing Commissioner William McCormick did the Patrick Henry by the pugs, orated at length on the rule in question, got their endorsement of it (it wouldn't have made any difference if they hadn't) and belligerent expressions of their willingness to meet any and all challengers in Box-bunk, Sing Sing, or anywhere along the equator where fans are plentiful at any time specified by the commission.

These statements singed the atmosphere, they were so hotly made by the champions, and representatives, who were apparently hot under the collar, because they haven't been able to scrape up enough ring work to suit them.

Boxing champions are just dying to fight, if these expressions count for anything, and the boxing world will live to see an upsurge within the next six months. Shock absorbers ought to be popular.

DESERTION CHARGED
WASHINGTON, Nov. 27.—Ancient files of the war department, showing that Colonel Charles R. Forbes, formerly director of the veterans' bureau, once was listed as a deserter from the United States army, have been turned over to the senatorial committee preparing a report on its investigation of Forbes' administration, war department officials said.

SPEED CROWN IS AIM OF FRENCH

Ace Who Set Altitude Mark Plans to Wrest Laurels From U. S. Airmen

By HARRY R. FLOVY
For International News Service.
PARIS, Nov. 27.—Sadi Lecoq, French aviation ace, who has mounted higher above the clouds than any other human being, plans in January of next year, to win back one or more of the world's airplane speed records from American holders. The date of the attempt has been tentatively set for January 15.

Lecoq holds a world's altitude record of 10,741 meters and until American flyers within the last year bettered his speed, also was known as the world's fastest flyer. To win back his old prestige, Lecoq will have to travel faster than 392 kilometers an hour, the time made by Lieutenant Alfred Williams, in the Pulitzer races at St. Louis, this fall.

Building New Machine
In the meantime, Lecoq is demonstrating modern aviation in the French Antilles. He is giving seaplane exhibitions in Pointe a Pitre, the capital of Guadeloupe, and in Fort de France, capital of Martinique.

When he makes his record-breaking attempt next January, Lecoq will pilot a new model Nieuport-Delage plane, now being constructed in that famous airplane plant. The plane will be equipped with a 600 horsepower, benzol burning motor. Parts of

Council Acts to Save Verdugo Wash Fences

As the result of a motion made by Councilman Sam Davis last night, the city will obtain the rights of way which they do not now possess in Verdugo wash.

This step is made necessary due to the fact that parties desiring sand do not take it from the center of the wash but have been undermining the fence that was placed along the wash at great expense. With complete control of the wash, the city will be able to direct the removal of sand and thereby save the foundation of the iron and wire fence along the sides of the wash.

the motor will be worked into the fuselage in such a manner as to lower the wind resistance almost to a negligible quantity.

While the French have been experimenting with the light, small horsepower, cheaply operated planes, they have seen the speed and endurance records get away from them, one after the other, before the attempts of American pilots.

Worried Over U. S. Records
The press is perturbed over the fact that four American pilots have flown faster than 380 kilometers an hour, and that almost every time the cable brings news of a new American achievement, the record-breaking pilot is one whose name has never before been heard in France.

"It is high time that our airplane constructors buckled down to the task at hand, if our national aviation is not to be completely eclipsed," comments L'Excelsior.

LA CRESCENTA

ORGANIZATION OF CHURCH IS PLAN

Episcopalians Launch Move for New Congregation at La Crescenta

A second church congregation is being organized here in the valley, and it is hoped work on their church will soon be started. Sunday morning, a large attendance was present in the auditorium, when Bishop Grebe, of Los Angeles, assisted by Dr. Noble, of Pasadena, celebrated holy communion for the benefit of all Episcopalians in the valley. A large number of interested non-members were also present, and much enthusiasm was noticeable over having church regularly Sunday at 11 a. m., from now on.

There were also quite a number of children present, who will be classed according to their ages, etc., for Sunday School classes. Deaconess Isabel Grebe, of Los Angeles, will have charge of the organization work in this branch of the church. An item of interest to all of this denomination, is news of a gift of $1000, given by James Cruze, who made the "Covered Wagon."

The Girl Scouts have voted to donate ten dollars each to the Community Church and the Episcopal Church here. This money was earned by the girls at their masquerade party, given a few weeks ago for their charity fund. There are now twenty-seven members here in La Crescenta and Scout Mother Jessie Hansen, needs an assistant.

Glendale business district has been invaded by a La Crescentan in the person of Miss G. Neff, who has opened a small pastry shop here. This attractive little shop is called the "Bangor Browne." La Crescenta Community Church celebrated its first Sunday in its new home, by an exceptionally large attendance, both in Sunday School and church. A number of new classes were opened for all sizes and ages, from tiny tots, to old age, and all are cordially invited and made welcome. Dr. A. Kelso preached an edifying sermon on personal dedication of life and service to the good of the church and community.

Services Wednesday
On Wednesday evening, there will be a Thanksgiving service, the first part of which will be a community sing, led by an experienced community sing leader in the person of Mr. Pepson.
On Friday afternoon the Ladies' Missionary society and Service league will meet at the home of Mrs. F. Foy, on East President Avenue, at 2 o'clock. All ladies of the valley are cordially invited to attend.

GRAND OFFICERS AT DRUIDS' MEET

Burbank Grove Admits Class of Fifteen Members at Regular Session

Last night proved to be a record event in the history of the local grove of Druids, three grand officers of the order being present as guests of the Burbank body.

A class of fifteen new members were initiated into the mysteries known only to Druids, with the local team putting on the work. Refreshments were served and a general good time enjoyed.

Noble Grand Arch C. C. Salmina and Past Grand Arch C. Dorn and C. Brainerd were the distinguished visitors present.

Local Notes
The house of B. P. Music, near the corner of Verdugo avenue and Main street, was completely destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon.

November 22, together with numerous personal belongings. Being outside the hydrant district, according to Walter Story of the fire department, it was practically impossible to do anything to save it.

The grand finale of the local end of the fox trot contest for $1000, marked last Wednesday night's tripping the light fantastic at the Palais Majestic.

Resulting in Miss Pearl Harris and E. S. Gifford of Los Angeles winning the right to enter the finals, with Miss Verna Short of Burbank winning second place. The contest is being conducted in Southern California cities by a Los Angeles paper.

It is difficult to believe that W. A. Thompson of 126 West San Fernando boulevard ever weighed the minute sum of 2½ pounds, but such he avers to be the case, producing as an exhibit at his store, documentary evidence in the form of a midsize shirt about the size of a minute, which he claims he wore shortly after birth.

Vocal Duet—"Underneath the Mellow Moon".....Hall (Medames Fischer and Jones)

In order that a street may be put through to make more uniform a new subdivision being opened up, the Evangelical church on Magnolia avenue, standing directly in the path of the proposed improvement, has agreed to move sufficiently to one side to allow this to take place.

Speaking of the spirit of co-operation thus exhibited, Mayor J. Crawford says that is what builds communities. He contrasts it with the selfishness of certain property owners in Eagle Rock, who prevented North Colorado avenue in Pasadena from lie, a post he has held for several years.

Mrs. Harvey Fessendorf and son Russell of Fresno recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Weidenfeller of Greeley avenue, Tujunga.

Mr. and Mrs. Allardie have sold their home on Queen's Lane to Edward McCarthy and will make their home in Glendale in the future.

was getting to steer his galloping caboose to Los Angeles, the big city, where they have everything. He didn't go very often, but when he did, he always did a lot of errands for the neighbors. The neighbors always have a few little errands to be done that men take but a minute, so the men are always glad to go shopping for them.

So, lads and lassies, just before the man left, he asked his children what he could bring home for them. They only wanted six dolls, a bicycle, an air gun, a quarter of a ton of candy and a football, so their pop was thinking that there would be plenty of room left for a cord of toothpicks, in his flivver, when he noticed that little Aloysius hadn't told him what he wanted.

So the father asked him, Little Aloysius had been watching his father's face while his sisters and brother recited their wants, and the expression on pop's face must have convinced him of the futility of giving a large order.
